BURNED AREA EMBRACES 15 SQUARE MILES

Engineer Tells of Ruin Wrought in 'Frisco by the Flames.

CONFERENCE HELD

Governor Pardee Meets With the Heads of the Various Emergency Committees.

SITUATION IS ENCOURAGING

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—The Oakland Tribune today says:

"An engineer states that the area devastated by fire in San Francisco approximates 10,000 acres, or about 15 square miles. There are few cities in the world where so much valuable property is contained in an equal territory. Within this 15 square miles were 100 banks, some of the finest buildings in the world, thousands of mercantile and manufacturing establishments and more than 230,000 inhabitants, besides 40,000 transients.

"Notwithstanding the enormous and widespread destruction the homes of 150,000 people are still standing and practically uninjured. There still remain the great ship yards at the Potrero, the Pacific mail docks, the stockyards at South San Francisco, the docks and manufactories along the water front from Mission creek to Hunters Point, the mint, the postoffices and a large retail district on Fillmore and Devisadero streets."

Gov. Pardee visited San Francisco today, and attended a conference of Maj.-Gen. Greely, Mayor Schmitz, Dr. Devine, of the Red Cross and members of the Citizens committee. Gov. Pardee brought up the request of Mayor Schmitz and his committee for the withdrawal of the National guard from San Francisco. Gov. Pardee spoke highly in favor of the National guard and referred to the splendid service performed in the war with Spain. He said he regarded the request for withdrawal as a reflection on a well organized and highly efficient body of men.

Governor Is Indignant.

The governor said that he was indignant over the attitude taken against the guard and the charges preferred against them. In fact, he was so indignant that he thought it best not to make any further remarks.

Mayor Schmitz immediately replied that he and his committee had not made any charges against the guard. On the contrary, they had thanked the governor for the militia's services. If charges had been made, they were made by outsiders.

The state troops have not yet been withdrawn, and the meeting adjourned without any announcement that they would be.

There was a long discussion over the advisability of starting a number of electric street railway lines. The committee did not yet feel that all danger of fire from this source was passed, and the mayor finally appointed a committee to investigate and report on this subject.

Capt. Payson of the water committee made a report on the water supply. There was no storage water for fire purposes and consequently no means of protection against fire if it should break out at this time.

President's Plan Satisfactory.

Herrman Schussler, the Spring Valley Water Company's chief engineer, expressed the opinion that it would be unwise at present to experiment with the electric lines. He compared the unburned portion of the city to a "lot of kindling wood standing on end."

Chairman James D. Phelan said that the plan for the handling of the relief fund as outlined in President Roosevelt's proclamation of Wednesday was perfectly satisfactory to the finance committee. Gov. Pardee turned over to him control of contributions as had been sent daily to the governor. Brig. Gen. Funston also formally surrendered the $35,000 remained unused of the $50,000 contributed by the Guggenheim interests. Thus, control of the entire relief fund is now in the hands of the finance committee. Gen. Greely announced at noon that the army had taken over control of the relief stations for the distribution of food.

Col. George Torney, who is in immediate command of sanitation, announced that the situation was encouraging. Every precaution had been taken in the city parks, where tens of thousands of people were finding shelter.

A camp for Chinese may be established on the golf links of the Presidio, controlled by the army.

Contributions to Date Close to $280,000 and Today's Big Benefits Will Add Much.

Pittsburgh's offering to San Francisco and the disaster stricken communities of the Pacific coast now totals over $278,000, and the two big benefits planned for this afternoon in the Grand Opera house and Nixon theater will undoubtedly place the local fund within reach of the $300,000 mark.

MAJ. W. H. DAVIS STARTS HOME

Seems to Be the Candidate for Pittsburgh Postmastership Most Likely to Win.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—(Special.)—Maj. W. H. Davis left for Pittsburgh this evening after having filed his indorsements for the postmastership with the postmaster general and conferred with the Pittsburgh members of congress. There seems to be no doubt but that Maj. Davis will be the man selected by the members for this position, but no decision in the matter will be reached until the early part of next week.

Owing to the fact that Mr. Barchfeld and Mr. Burke went to Pittsburgh tonight to attend the Americus club banquet, the congressmen did not have an opportunity to hold a conference on the subject, but will do so as soon as all are here again.

By Order of the Court.

CYCLONE KILLS FORTY-FIVE AND DESTROYS TEXAS TOWNS

Windstorm Eight Miles Long and One Mile Wide Sweeps Through Texas Killing Many. Bodies Cremated.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

DALLAS, TEX., April 26.—Forty-five persons are thought to have lost their lives and nearly twice that many injured in a cyclone which struck and nearly destroyed the towns of Bellevue and Stoneburg this evening. A telephone message from Henrietta to this place at 11 o'clock conveyed the information and at that time the dead at Bellevue was estimated at 30 people.

It is thought between 10 and 15 have been killed at Stoneburg. It is not known how many have been injured, but there is a call for physicians and nurses.

Fire followed up the work of the cyclone and is rapidly destroying portions of the towns which escaped the work of the cyclone. Two relief trains carrying a large number of persons, including doctors and nurses, have already left Henrietta for the stricken city.

Bellevue is a very prosperous town of 1,500 people. It is situated in Clay county and Stoneburg is in Montague county, both in the northern part of the state.

BELLEVUE, TEXAS, April 26.—A tornado which swept through this place tonight, destroyed everything in its path. The entire town is a mass of ruins, only three buildings are now standing, at least 11 persons are dead, and a number injured. The tornado was followed by fire which consumed the wreckage.

This report is being sent from the top of a telephone pole, a mile from Bellevue, but it is as close as a wire can be had. The town of Bellevue consisted of over 200 houses.

Among those known killed are: R. L. Russel, wife and four children; A. D. Carr, Tom Mount, W. W. Bell, two members of Gray family.

The seriously injured: Two daughters of N. E. Smith of Bowie, Mrs. Gault, Mr. Gray and five members of his family, Mrs. McGraw.

A. D. Carr was caught in a building, mashed to death and his body cremated.

The tornado was a mile wide and traveled eight miles, leveling everything in its path, ruining crops and destroying all farm houses and barns on the way. This section is thicky settled and it will be tomorrow before there are complete reports of the dead.

All the houses were equipped with storm cellars and the people ran to them as soon as they saw the tornado approaching. Those who could not reach them suffered.

Won't Accept $100,000.

OTTAWA, ONT., April 26.—It was announced in the house today that the United States government had declined to accept the $100,000 appropriated by Canada for the San Francisco relief fund. The money will be set aside for a time in the hope that some means may be devised whereby it can be used.

INDIAN AGENT TAKES GUFFEY AND GALEY OIL LANDS

Department of Interior Claims Leases Were Sold Contrary to Rulings Made.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

MUSKOGEE, I. T., April 26.—The Indian agent, acting under instructions from the department of the interior, today, took every producing oil lease owned by Guffey & Galey, out of their possession and placed the land in the possession of the allottees from whom the lease was taken.

This action was taken on the ground Guffey & Galey had sold their leases contrary to the expressed provisions of the lease and the rulings of the department of the interior, under whose supervision the leases were taken. The price quoted for the sale was alleged to be $1,250,000.

Guffey & Galey have leases that cover fully the 4,800 acres which is the maximum the company is allowed to lease. The specific charge against Guffey & Galey is that they sold their leases, including all their producing wells, to a trust company of St. Louis, and the leases were again transferred, this time going to the Osage and Oklahoma Oil & Gas Company.

Emperor of Japan Makes a Donation.

TOKYO, April 26.—The emperor of Japan has donated $100,000 for the relief of the people of San Francisco and the business men of Tokyo and Osaki have contributed a like sum.

CORPSE OF GAME WARDEN LIES ON RIVER'S BOTTOM

Mystery of Selee Houk's Disappearance Clears When Low Water Shows Body.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW CASTLE, PA., April 26.—The mutilated body of Selee Houk, the missing deputy game and fish warden of this county, for whom a court process was recently issued, was found this afternoon in the Mahoning river, near Hillsville.

Houk was last seen alive at Hillsville on Friday, March 2 and was probably murdered that afternoon. He had been shot at close range with a shotgun, the charge almost blowing the entire lower part of his face away.

Houk was a native of this county and had many relatives here. He was 50 years old and was unmarried. He served as deputy game and fish warden for several years and was unpopular because of the severity with which he prosecuted technical offenses against the game and fish laws. Frequently threats had been made against his life and he always went heavily armed.

On March 2 Houk rode with Special Officer Herman Mehard of the Mahoning Valley Traction Company to Hillsville and alighted at a switch above the town.

His tragic death recalls his arrest one Sunday afternoon last summer of a young Italian boy for fishing on Sunday. Houk manacled the boy and threw him into the back of his buck wagon.

The helpless boy was jarred from the wagon and fell on the road. His wrists were badly cut and he brought a charge of assault and battery. Houk was convicted and secured a postponement, but was ordered to appear in court for sentence. When he failed to appear his bail was forfeited and a bench warrant issued for his arrest. That was probably after his murder.

MINERS READY FOR ANOTHER WAGE SESSION

Submit New Proposals and Ask Operators to Join in Conference.

INCREASE IS ASKED

Otherwise New Proposals Modify Somewhat Original Demands of Anthracite Miners.

WILL MEET AT SCRANTON

WILKES-BARRE, April 26.—The anthracite miners will hold a convention at Scranton next Thursday to take action upon the reply of the operators, if any, to two propositions submitted to President Baer and his associates today.

The decision to call a convention of the miners of the three districts was reached at a meeting of the general anthracite scale committee held in this city today. There is a wide divergence of opinion as to the form of the propositions to be presented to the operators.

President Mitchell tonight made public two propositions, together with a request for another joint conference submitted by the miners' scale committee to President Baer and his associates. The first proposition asks for an increase in wages ranging from five to 15 per cent, according to the wages now received. The second proposition asks for an advance equal to 10 cents a ton upon the total production of coal, to be added to the wages of employes and apportioned in such percentage as may be agreed upon.

The two propositions are as follows:

The Miners' Proposals.

Mr. George F. Baer, Chairman; Messrs. E. B. Thomas, W. H. Truesdale, David Wilcox, Morris Williams, John B. Kerr, J. L. Cake, Committee Representing the Anthracite Coal Operators, New York City.

Gentlemen:

The committee appointed by the Shamokin convention representing the anthracite mine workers have given your communication dated April 17 the most careful consideration. The refusal of your committee to submit the differences between to arbitrament of the conciliation board created by the anthracite coal strike commission or to that commission itself—both propositions having been made to you by us—has convinced the members of our committee and the mine workers of the anthracite fields that no proposition to arbitrate our differences, however fair or important, will be accepted by you, if proposed by us.

The suggestion of your committee that we first arbitrate to ascertain whether or not there is anything to arbitrate and then restrict within narrow limits the scope of the investigation could—if accepted by us—have no other effect than to bring into disrepute and ridicule the beneficent and worthy procedure through which seemingly irreconcilable differences have been adjusted so often in a manner reasonably satisfactory to all concerned.

However, notwithstanding the attitude of your committee, we have not yet entirely abandoned hope that an agreement can be reached between our respective committees upon a basis just to us, fair to you, and which will not result in imposing additional burdens upon the coal consuming public; and that a prolonged suspension of mining in the anthracite fields will be averted.

Asks for Acceptance.

With this end in view we submit herewith two separate and distinct propositions, upon the acceptance of either of these by your committee we will recommend to a convention of anthracite miners which has been called to meet next Thursday, that work be resumed and continued for a period to be mutually determined by our joint committees.

Proposition No. 1—That the award of the anthracite coal strike commission be renewed and continued in force subject to the following modifications:

(a)—That all persons employed in the collieries, washaries, strippings and breakers who now receive—minus the sliding scale—$1 or less a day of nine hours, shall have their wages advanced 15 per cent.

(b)—That all persons employed in the collieries, washeries, strippings and breakers will now receive—minus the sliding scale—above $1 and not to exceed $1 75 a day of nine hours, shall have their wages advanced 12½ per cent.

(c)—That all persons employed in the collieries, washeries, strippings and breakers will now receive—minus the sliding scale—above $1 25 but not to exceed $1 50 a day of nine hours shall have their wages advanced 10 per cent.

(d)—That all persons employed in the collieries, washeries, strippings and breakers who now receive—minus the sliding scale—above $1 50, but not to exceed $1 75 a day of nine hours, shall have their wages advanced 7½ per cent.

(e)—That all other persons employed in the collieries, washeries, strippings and breakers, including contract workmen, shall have their wages, allowances and rates of payment—minus the sliding scale—advanced to 5 per cent.

Says That Objections Are Overcome.

Proposition No. 2.—That an advance equal to 10 cents a ton upon the total production of anthracite coal be added to the wages and earnings of all persons employed in the collieries, washeries, strippings and breakers; such advance to be added to the wages and rates fixed in the award of the anthracite coal strike commission; the apportionment to be on a percentage basis, in such manner as may be determined mutually between our respective committees.

In formulating these two propositions we have eliminated every feature of our former proposals to which you have objected except that of wages, and in the matter of wages we have kept in mind your oft-repeated statement that to grant our original demands would result in advancing the cost to the consumer of domestic coal $1 20 a ton. While we have not been able, even by the most careful analysis, to ascertain by what process of reasoning you have reached your conclusions as to the alleged necessity of an advance in cost amounting to $1 20 a ton, we beg to assure you that we have no desire, neither would we consent to become parties to any compact that would increase the cost of domestic fuel $1 20 a ton.

As indicated in the two propositions submitted herein, we propose a resumption of work upon a basis that would increase the labor cost of all coal produced by an amount not in excess of 10 cents a ton, and as between 6 and 70 per cent of all coal produced [illegible] prepared sizes, the increase in the labor cost of domestic fuel would not exceed 16 cents a ton.

In passing judgment upon these proposals, we request that you give consideration

Front of San Francisco City Hall

to the conditions now existing in the anthracite fields. Years ago it was not uncommon for boys of 12, 10 and even 8 years of age to be employed in the breakers and to tend doors in the mines. As a result of legislative enactment, no boy may now be employed in the breakers who is less than 14, or in the mine who is less than 16 years of age. It follows as a matter of common justice that the wage paid to a 16-year-old boy would be totally inadequate and unfair when paid to a boy of 14 or 18 years of age, and it will not be seriously contended that any man who receives less than $2 a day can support and educate his family in a manner at all conformable to American standards; especially in the mining industry, where men are not given the opportunity to work more than 225 days in any one year. And yet there are many thousands of boys who receive from 50 to 90 cents a day, and thousands upon thousands of men with families to support, who receive between $1 17 and $1 75 a day.

In considering the advance proposed for contract workers, we request that you keep in mind the great hazard incident to their employment and the skill and experience required by the class of labor. In the year 1905 441 fatal accidents and more than 1,200 non-fatal accidents occurred in the anthracite mines. Of the larger proportion of these accidents contract miners and their laborers were victims; and 1905 was not an exceptional year. For decades these terrible conditions have existed. Indeed, the whole region is filled with widows and orphans, with men maimed or sightless; the hospitals and charitable institutions are overtaxed with the victims of mine accidents. The support and maintenance of those unfortunates is borne in a large measure by those who depend upon the mining industry for their living.

Our committee will await at Wilkes-Barre your reply to the propositions herein submitted. Or, if agreeable to you, we shall be pleased to meet your committee at any time and place you may suggest.

(Signed)

John Mitchell, Chairman; T. J. Nicholls, John T. Dempsey, W. H. Dettrey, John P. Gallagher, John Fahy, George W. Hartlein.

FROM FREEDOM TO JAIL ON A SPEEDY SCHEDULE

Abraham Hollanding Is Arrested, Held for Court and Indicted in a Few Hours.

Abraham Hollanding's schedule for yesterday and today is as follows: Thursday, 1 a. m., arrested; 9 a. m., held for court; 10 a. m., indicted by grand jury. This morning, to be tried under the Ellis act.

Hollanding was arrested at a low resort in Second avenue while he was abusing Freda Reitza because she had no money to give him, so the police say. At the hearing he was defiant and threatened the girl in Yiddish, but she told her story. Freda said she came to this country from Russia two years ago. She was earning a respectable living in a New York hotel when she met Hollanding. He persuaded her to come to Pittsburgh, telling her she could make more money here. When they arrived he put her in a resort and kept her there by threats, at the same time taking all her earnings. The girl cannot speak English.

District Attorney Stewart has promised that the case against Hollanding shall be pushed. The director says there are over 500 men like Hollanding in Pittsburgh, and he hopes to severely punish all of them.

REVOKES TWO LICENSES.

Allegheny Wholesalers Are to Have Further Hearings of Their Cases.

Judge McClung yesterday revoked the order granting wholesale liquor licenses to John Chambers, 814 River avenue, Allegheny, and Christopher Pierle, 2244 Bowyer avenue, Allegheny. The court will hold over the applications for a further hearing. No reason is given, but it is supposed it is the result of the recent raids on the North Side.

A report was also current in Allegheny last night that the Retail Liquor Dealers' league was back of the movement, it being intimated that the dealers in question had been selling to speakeasies. Officials of that organization denied any knowledge of the cases.

CARNEGIE PAYS STANTON HONOR

Dedicates Chair to Great War Secretary in Kenyon College and Delivers Speech.

IS MADE DOCTOR OF LAWS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GAMBIER, O., April 26.—To the memory of Edwin M. Stanton, for whom the steel king once carried messages, Andrew Carnegie today dedicated a chair of economics in Kenyon college. The alumni, undergraduates and faculty, in cap and gown, acknowledged the gift and its endowment of $60,000, and in return conferred the degree of doctor of laws upon Mr. Carnegie.

Bishop Leonard pronounced the invocation and Dr. Arthur Cleveland Hall, professor of the new chair, presented Mr. Carnegie to President Peirce for the degree. The new fledged Kenyon man was greeted with the college yell, a Carnegie yell and a tiger. Mr. Carnegie then delivered his address on Stanton.

Col. J. J. McCook of New York presented the college with an oil painting of Mr. Stanton. After the ceremony a reception was given for Mr. Carnegie, and later a banquet. At the banquet Mr. Carnegie said he admired the girls of Hartcourt seminary and laughingly asked Bishop Leonard not to mention his remarks to his wife.

Andrew Carnegie began his tribute to Stanton with a biographical sketch of the great war secretary, calling him "Stanton the Patriot, Kenyon's most illustrious son." Mr. Carnegie in his address showed a profound knowledge of the events leading up to the civil war, as well as of the motives of the actors in the great national drama culminating in that conflict. Of the early events in Stanton's life Mr. Carnegie said he learned from John Harper, one of Stanton's schoolmates whom Mr. Carnegie well knew in Pittsburgh. Stanton, according to Mr. Carnegie, was the youngest library founder in history, having started a circulating library where books were regularly exchanged among boys before he was 13 years old.

In conclusion Mr. Carnegie said:

Our pantheon is reserved for the fathers of the republic. To these has recently been added Lincoln, who has taken his place among the gods. Two other names from our generation are yet to enter, their services swelling as events recede: Stanton and Grant.

Thus passed away Kenyon's most illustrious alumnus, but in the higher sense he is still with us, and distant is the day when the graduates of Kenyon shall find that his spirit no longer rules them from his urn. Such an example as he left is one of the most precious legacies that can be bequeathed to posterity—a career spent, not in pursuit of miserable aims, which end with self, but in high service for others. In these days of materialism, where so many are devoted to the pursuit of wealth as an end, some pursuing it by underhand and dishonorable means, and in political life, where personal advancement is so often the aim, the value of a Stanton, in total abnegation of self, placing before him as his aim in life, service to his country, regardless of popularity, fame or wealth, cannot be overestimated.

It is for the students of Kenyon and for all men, year after year, generation after generation, century after century, to emulate his virtues, follow his example, and revere his memory.

PITTSBURGH STUDENT AMONG THOSE PUNISHED

Lafayette College Faculty Suspends Young Men Accused of Hazing.

EASTON, PA., April 26.—The faculty of Lafayette college is determined to put a stop to hazing and fagging, which has been in practice, at intervals, at the college, notwithstanding it is strictly forbidden. Last week the freshmen were lined up by the seniors and were hazed by the use of flour and water. The freshmen resented this treatment, and for a time there was trouble and anxiety lest the class would, as a body withdraw from all college life, except that demanded by their duties to the institution.

The faculty had been making inquiries and a number of seniors were called before the president. As a result the faculty today suspended indefinitely a number of students, among whom were J. Fletcher Hunter of Wyncote and Alexander W. McCandless of Pittsburgh, both seniors, and E. L. Schwartz of Pennsburg, a junior.

The seniors, juniors and sophomores in separate class meetings this afternoon passed resolutions requesting the faculty to reconsider its action in suspending the men. They asked for a reply by 9 a. m. Friday, until which time the suspended men have been given by the faculty to leave town. This action is construed as meaning that if the students do not get a favorable reply they will strike.

STILL IN CONFERENCE.

Miners and Operators Fail to Agree on Scale Conditions Owing to Check-Off Demands.

Coal operators and officials from the district organization of miners continued their deliberations over wage scale conditions yesterday without reaching an agreement. The chief point for contention at this time is the demand made by the miners that the check-off be regulated by the mine committee. This the operators firmly refuse. At present the check-off is limited to 50 cents per month per man, while the demand of the miners would make it unlimited.

It was agreed yesterday that if no conclusion was reached today, the miners would be paid on Saturday according to the scale of 1903 and existing conditions and any agreement which might be subsequently reached will become retroactive from April and the men paid any difference on the next pay day.

TAKES GEMS AND MONEY FOR THE SADDLE HORSE

Now Liveryman and Jeweler Are Anxious to Meet Man Who Traded on Credit.

J. P. Martin, giving his home as Oil City, came to town riding a pony several days ago. He departed suddenly yesterday without leaving a forwarding address. Edward Johnston, a Penn avenue liveryman, is bemoaning the loss of the "pony" and Sol Seleznick of 976 Liberty avenue is seeking the recovery of $175 worth of diamonds and $25 in cash.

Martin registered at the American house last week and represented himself as a Chicago newspaper man, showing what purported to be a reporter's "badge" as evidence. He made the acquaintance of Seleznick and informed him that he was employed on a local afternoon newspaper, and is said to have represented to Johnston that he was a "solicitor" for the Associated Press. From the latter he secured a handsome saddle horse, which he declared he would ride to the offices of the Associated Press to get the purchase money for the animal.

However, Martin paraded the animal before Seleznick, who bought it for $200. Seleznick made part payment in diamonds. Then Martin hurriedly left town.

RINGWALT CHOIR UNION GIVES ITS LAST CONCERT

Renders "The Vision of St. John" and "The Curfew Bell" at the Conservatory.

The Ringwalt Choir union is the last of the local singing societies to close its concert season. It was heard by a considerable audience at the Pittsburgh Conservatory of Music hall last evening. Under the direction of H. L. Ringwalt this chorus of some 60 voices has done much public work in the past 19 years.

Last evening's program included one sacred and one secular cantata. The first was "The Vision of Saint John," by the New York organist, C. Whitney Coombs; the second was "The Curfew Bell," by Frank Lynes of Boston. Neither work is the product of unusual inspiration, but each is tuneful and generally well-written for the voices. The sacred cantata would have been improved by organ accompaniment, though Miss Mary C. Byers made the most of the piano parts throughout the evening. The chorus seldom sang with freedom, and frequently showed a disposition to rely more upon individual initiative than upon the conductor. Any modifications in tempo, and many of the crescendos and diminuendos were obtained with difficulty.

The soloists were Misses Nettie Ablett, Dena Bonnett, Kathryn Lingenfelser, Eva Sykes, Morris Stephens and Thomas France. Of these Mr. Stephens, the tenor, is the only one who can be counted an experienced soloist, and he was not in the best of voice last evening. The others are possessed of good vocal material and promise well for later years.

GAMBLERS SWINDLE MANY.

Seven Men Use Loaded Dice at the Atlantic Automobile Race and Get Large Returns.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 26.—(Special.)—A gang of seven thimble riggers, who used loaded dice and ran the shell game, robbed the automobile race patrons this afternoon of $5,000, $4,000 of which is claimed to have been lost by Charles Litman, a hotel steward, who had drawn the money from the bank to pay off a mortgage.

When he had been separated from his cash by the dice, he realized he had been the victim of sharps, and old Chief of Police Comly, who took the gang of seven men implicated, from a street car before it pulled out of the city. A score of police knew of the shell game and dice, but made no move to stop the swindling. Thirty-two hundred dollars in cash has been recovered by the police.

EXCITEMENT ON FERRY BOAT

Strikes Scow in the Water and the Passengers Become Panic Stricken.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—A panic was narrowly averted on the ferryboat Piedmont today, as the vessel was making a trip to this city. Thousands of persons crowded both decks of the steamer and standing room was scarce. Opposite Goat Island, the paddle wheel struck an abandoned scow with a resounding crash.

The noise alarmed the passengers. Many of them ran to the opposite side of the boat, which listed heavily. The cry went up that the boat was capsizing, and a mad rush was made for life preservers. They were torn from the cases and quickly donned. Two officers were unable to cope with the throng, and it was not until the vessel had been safely docked that order was restored.

W. U. P. JUNIORS PRESENT JOLLY COLLEGE COMEDY

Student Thespians in "The Toastmaster" Please Large Audience at Duquesne Garden.

"The Toastmaster," a jolly little three-act comedy of college life, was presented by the juniors of the collegiate and engineering departments of the Western University of Pennsylvania last night at Duquesne garden before an audience of several hundred friends of the students and the university. The piece was well put on. At any rate, the spectators enjoyed it immensely. Of course, the voices of the "young women" in the cast were somewhat sonorous, not at all befitting their feminine attire, but barring this discrepancy there was little but praise that could be given the efforts of the student thespians.

Between the acts selections were rendered by a sextet of juniors who are members of the glee club. Walter C. Renton gave a number of piano solos.

The piece, it is understood, will be repeated some time before commencement. Of the cast, L. S. Lambie in the dual role of Bill Morgan and Maggie, a servant; T. L. Douglass as "Towel" Fairfax, W. Arthur as Prof. Reed; W. S. Elliott as Bob Kenmark and W. S. Fischer as Buzzer were the favorites.

SHOULD FORSWEAR ONIONS

Ohio Judge Denies Woman Divorce on Plea That Her Husband Forbade Favorite Vegetable.

STEUBENVILLE, O., April 26.—(Special.)—Is a husband's refusal to allow his wife to indulge a taste for green onions sufficient ground for divorce? Judge R. G. Richards believes it is not, his view of the onion's rights and privileges in the domestic economy being included in the decision which he handed down today in the divorce case of Mrs. Nellie Singer against William Singer.

Incompatibility was alleged the chief impediment to peace in the family, lying in the fact that Mr. Singer would not allow his wife to have green onions on the table. Judge Richards held this not to be legal ground for divorce.

DIRECTOR GRENET ASKS FOR TWO NEW ENGINES

The public safety committee of Allegheny councils last night recommended the ordinance providing for the purchase of two steam fire engines. The ordinance authorizing the purchase of a chemical engine was recommended negatively. The appropriation for the engines is not sufficient to purchase all, and Director Grenet and Chief Hunter, who were present, asked that the steam engines be purchased, as they were badly needed. The committee ordered the printing of the ordinance creating the positions for two district engineers.

VOTE FOR LARGER CITY ON JUNE 12

Solicitor Rodgers Will Suggest This Date for Submitting Annexation Question.

PROPOSITION WILL CARRY

Tuesday, June 12, will probably be selected as the date for submitting the question of the consolidation of Pittsburgh and Allegheny to the electors of the two cities. City Solicitor Rodgers will suggest this date to Judge McClung, who will make the formal order.

Solicitor Rodgers will not be ready to go into court for a day or two. He desires to exercise great care in preparing the form of notice for the election. It is probable the proclamation will recite the location of all of the polling places in the two cities. Mr. Rodgers thinks June 12 would be a good date. The Republicans do not want it the week before, as their state convention is to be held on June 6, and many of them will be in Harrisburg.

June 12 will give sufficient time for the campaign necessary to arouse the voters of the two cities. In all political circles in Pittsburgh one ascertains there will be no difficulty in securing a good majority for the proposition on this side of the river. The leaders of every political organization are committed to the work of creating a greater city. Some individuals who are strong vote-getters say they will oppose consolidation. They are few in number and some of them may change their position. From present indications about every four out of five voters will support consolidation. The size of the majority will depend on the size of the vote. Unless a great deal of work is done not more than 25,000 or 30,000 of the 64,000 voters who participated in the February election will be gotten to the polls.

In Allegheny the city administration will make a mighty effort to return the largest majority possible against the project. There were over 24,000 votes polled there in February. It is probably the showing will be almost as good in this special election. While Mayor Guthrie is anxious to secure a Greater Pittsburgh, it is understood he will not urge the city employes to make a fight. In Allegheny every employe will be expected to make a showing.

There is a big voting population in Allegheny in favor of bringing that city into Pittsburgh. The showing this element will make will depend on how well it is organized. The opponents in Allegheny hope to make some alliances on this side of the river, but it is difficult to see where a winning arrangement of this kind can be made.

The chamber of commerce expects to take the lead in the campaign in behalf of Greater Pittsburgh. All the various commercial and political organizations are to be called on for assistance. The committee on municipal affairs of the chamber will begin the work of forming a central organization.

MAKING SIX-FOOT SQUAD.

Four Giant Policemen Are Transferred to Downtown District.

Four six-foot policemen were transferred yesterday from the East End district as a result of Director Ridgway's order to build up a six-foot squad for the downtown streets.

The giant officers are: Charles Johnston, 6 feet 3 inches, weighs 220 pounds; John Lawler, 6 feet 2 inches, 230 pounds; John Carlson, 6 feet 1 inch, 220 pounds, and John Schrdraw, 6 feet 2 inches, 230 pounds. These men will be assigned as corner men by Inspector Robinson. Ten more six-footers will be transferred to the First district today.

Louis Mann Next Week.

Louis Mann and Clara Lipman, both of whom are well-known in this city, make their reappearance in Pittsburgh as co-stars at the Belasco theater on Monday, April 30, in Clara Lipman's sparkling comedy, "Julie Bonbon," which but recently terminated a successful engagement of 14 weeks at Fields' theater, New York. In their present vehicle they have a comedy that is filled with laughs.

Checkers Coming Back.

"Checkers" is to play a return engagement at the Alvin next week, and an usually big advance sale indicates that the demand to see this popular play is even greater than during its engagement at the same theater early in the season. Since it was here it has been winning profitable laurels through the south and middle west.

The last-named date has been fixed with special reference to the convenience of professors and teachers. On both trips the "Tietgen" will stop at Copenhagen, at which point passengers may stop over for a brief time and also make connections for Hamburg and Berlin. The minimum tariff for first cabin accommodations is $60, and for second cabin, $50. Full details will be supplied by the agents of the line, A. E. Johnson & Co., 1 Broadway, New York.

We'd like men to see how the collars they wear are made. Our Industrial Exhibit this week includes the making of these collars, and it's one of the interesting sights of the occasion. How Your Underwear Is Knitted. This is a picture of a machine in operation in our Knit Underwear Division for women. It is from the Ypsilanti Underwear Co. and for intricate and delicate machinery is a great study. It is one of the features of our Industrial Exhibit. We sell Ypsilanti Undergarments of cotton, lisle and silk.

People in the store today who have never seen the Block House—or even if they have seen it—should take a look at the reproduction of this famous historical redoubt that we have been exhibiting all week on the second floor. It takes one back to the days of Indians, and we wouldn't be a bit surprised if visitors there today would see some Indians.

Friday, April 27, 1906.

Distinguished speakers will be heard at the banquet of the Americus club tonight. Chief interest will center in the address of Attorney General Moody, whose theme, "National Justice," is suggestive of recent occurrences coming under the official attention of his department. The club is to be congratulated on securing the services of Senator Knox as toastmaster.

Maj. A. P. Burchfield's refusal of the presidency of the chamber of commerce was inspired by highly commendable motives, fully explained in his letter. The subsequent election of H. D. W. English will probably fully satisfy the membership. Having disposed of this matter the chamber is now ready to begin the campaign for the Greater Pittsburgh election, a very important matter to be decided in a short time.

Record time was made in the arrest, return to court and indictment of an alleged white slave driver yesterday. The public is permitted the hope this rate of speed will be maintained in bringing the man to trial and, if proven, in conviction and in giving him the limit of punishment under the law. The story of his alleged inhuman conduct is horrifying. Such things ought not to be possible in a civilized country.

Secretary of State McAfee has given a new turn to the suit to test the constitutionality of the new senatorial apportionment. He has refused to accept papers from the old district, which will oblige Mr. Goyne's supporters to apply for a writ of mandamus. This will secure a prompt hearing and decision and will enable the state government to fully defend the apportionment, which it will do vigorously.

In celebrating "Bird day" pupils of the Fifth Avenue High school yesterday observed a pretty custom which should be perpetuated. Young people should know all our native birds by sight and be familiar with their ways. The "birding excursion" to take place next month will be a happy blending of instruction and entertainment. There are few lessons to be learned from the books that are comparable to those that may be learned from observation out of doors.

Allegheny's crusade against corner loafers might well be imitated on this side of the river. The vicinity of the court house continues to be a rendezvous for the idle, who obstruct the sidewalks and defile them with tobacco juice. Arresting of a few of these loafers some months ago abated the nuisance temporarily, but the return of warm weather has revived it in double force. Women, especially, complain of the court house loafers. Make them "move on."

Monongahela indulged in a lively celebration yesterday, to manifest its approval of the freeing from tolls of the bridge over the Monongahela river. This is the first free bridge to be established in the Monongahela valley above Pittsburgh and marks an epoch, creditable to the joint efforts of Washington and Westmoreland counties, which are joined by the artificial highway. Bridge tolls and turnpike tolls are out of date restrictions on traffic.

A sale of property in Wood street yesterday, at $15,000 a front foot, establishes a new record. It is significant of the confidence of investors who are well acquainted with this city in its stability and future. This transaction might profitably be brought to the attention of members of congress who recently expressed the opinion that postoffice site values were being artificially inflated. There has been a remarkable advance in real estate values during the past 20 years. Fifth avenue frontage passing that long ago at less than $5,000 a foot, but the advance is substantial.

A decision was rendered by the Indiana supreme court yesterday that nullifies a part of the anti-cigarette law of that state. The court holds the state has no power to prevent the smoking of a cigarette, or the bringing of the things into the state. It can prohibit their sale in a retail way. The effort to prohibit smoking is an illegal abridgement of personal liberty; the commerce clauses of the federal constitution are violated by the attempt to prohibit importation from other states. Thus another crank statute falls and the resort must be to moral suasion.

The advance sale of seats indicates a large attendance at the matinee performances to be given today at two local theaters for the benefit of the San Francisco sufferers. Similar performances in other cities have added large sums to the general fund, since those attending have voluntarily paid much more than the regular price for their seats. An excellent opportunity is afforded those who have not yet contributed to exercise benevolence by attending one of the matinees today and adding something to the fixed charge for their seats. The performances promise to be exceptionally entertaining.

A Weak Opposition.

Opponents of the Greater Pittsburgh have decided to await the result of the election on the proposition, before appealing to the supreme court. They will use their utmost endeavors to defeat consolidation at the polls and, failing in that will resort again to the courts. This opposition is something to create wonder, it is so persistent in an unworthy cause.

Two Greater Pittsburgh acts have been assailed in the courts. The first was declared unconstitutional. The second has just been sustained by the county court. In all the arguments advanced against both there is not a single allegation that consolidation of these contiguous cities is not good public policy. Every argument has been purely technical. Attorneys have searched for defects in the enactments and have rested their case on such technical grounds as they could find. This is virtually an admission from the opposition that consolidation is good public policy, but is opposed to the selfish interests involved. This fact will weigh heavily with the voters when they pass on the proposition at the ballot box.

Greater Pittsburgh means better and more economical government. It means the consolidation of departments and bureaus, securing more efficient service and eliminating duplicate positions. It means an end to petty graft and to friction between rival organizations that is detrimental to public safety and wasteful of public resources. These are reasons enough for consolidation, but there are others. There is the prestige of proper statistical position, that will be of commercial and other advantage. There is not one sound reason on the other side.

Good News From Washington.

The news of the day has contained so much lately of a depressing and harrowing nature that it is refreshing to be able to chronicle this decidedly cheering item from Washington, carrying its message of hope concerning one of the nation's favorite and heaviest sons to his host of admirers throughout the country: "Secretary Taft lost two more pounds yesterday and hopes to be down to the 250 mark by the end of the week." Behind this brief and bald statement of fact and figures lies a story of grim Spartan courage, of splendid heroic hardihood, which should thrill and inspire the fat folk of the nation and furnish abundant material for the biographers of our universally popular secretary of war. For be it known that not since last Christmas day has Mr. Taft eaten anything that he wanted to eat. For four long and weary months he has dined daily on lean beef and spinach. But now, at the end of his prolonged period of rigid self-discipline, victory is in sight, and one of these days the bulletin will be flashed around the world: "Taft wins. Down to 250." And the wires to Washington will be hot with messages of congratulation from all who have been watching his brave struggle with the demon avoirdupois.

Yesterday's bulletin makes it evident that somebody has not been doing his full duty at Washington in keeping the nation informed of Mr. Taft's progress from day to day. The public interest in Mr. Taft was sufficient to warrant daily bulletins. Which department official should have attended to this important matter it is not for us to say. Possibly it came within the scope of the department of commerce and labor, since Mr. Taft assures us it has been pretty hard work; or it may have been the duty of the treasury department, under the head of reducing the surplus. It would be the duty of the war department only under a liberal construction of Gen. Sherman's definition of war which, we understand, is Mr. Taft's opinion of the banting process which he has just undergone. Certain it is that we should have daily bulletins, for many persons believe our next president should be a man of just about Mr. Taft's build, with a large moustache and weighing exactly 250 pounds.

New York is Slow.

New York is busy with the question of subscriptions in the public schools. There is a loud appeal for reform in this matter and well there may be. Pittsburgh having reformed years ago is in position to give the metropolis some pointers and to sympathize with its schools, suffering imposition at this late day. It appears teachers and pupils in the great city are frequently invited to contribute to some cause or other, and they do so when they cannot all afford it.

Pittsburghers can recall a similar state, though it is so long since, the recollection is growing dim. It will be remembered how the resources of some households were strained in order that their contributions should not make pitiful contrast to those of neighbors in better circumstances. Then some one spoke up against the practice. Others joined; the protest swelled into a sonorous chorus, and the order went forth: No collections will be permitted in the public schools. Exception is made in the case of the hospitals once a year, only.

New York gets many ideas from the west. It is slow in catching up with this one. We are glad to see it is catching up, however, and will rejoice to know that New York schools were put on the same plane as those of Pittsburgh. Collections have no proper place in the public schools as a rule. There are possible exceptions to all general rules.

Storm Clouds in Russia.

Each day that passes, bringing nearer the tenth of May, when the first Russian parliament will assemble, emphasizes the short-sighted policy of the government in attempting to strengthen autocratic power at a time when the people are clamorously insisting upon their rights. The political situation is becoming most threatening. The "rights," which can be taken away by a stroke of the pen in the hand of the czar, evidently rest upon no permanent basis and the popular distrust of the government's motives is rapidly increasing. As is well known, the revolutionists have been trying to effect a hostile demonstration, if not a general uprising, to coincide with the convocation of parliament. They have hitherto been deprived of the support of that large element of the population which believed in giving the government a chance to show what it would do for the people under its new conciliatory policy. Now this neutral element, it is feared, disgusted with the shallow pretenses on which the new bill of rights is founded, may lend its aid to the revolutionists. The situation is rendered more ominous by the presence in the capital of an army of idle workmen, who are being organized for hostile action in a manner that suggests the methods employed just before the fatal "Red Sunday." In this some profess to see the hand of Gapon, whom rumor has recently declared either imprisoned or slain, but concerning whom nothing positive is known.

The government, lacking the confidence of the people, has brought these fresh troubles upon itself. Witte, no doubt, has done his best, and probably realized the reception that would be accorded the new constitution. Even forcing the czar to this "half a loaf" policy was better, in his opinion, than "no bread," but the mass of the people cannot take that view of the matter. It may well be believed that neither Nicholas nor Witte is looking forward to May 10 with feelings of the keenest pleasure.

A Home Example.

Allegheny is having a convincing illustrating of the evils of unrestricted immigration. Its charities fund is almost exhausted and Director Kirschler of the charities department says more than three-fourths of the persons in hospitals, at Claremont and on the outdoor relief lists are foreigners. He declares the foreigners are persistent applicants for relief and once on the list "it is like pulling teeth to get them off again."

Precisely. They are of the derelict class so well known to all who have to deal with charitable and penal institutions. They are lacking in that spirit of independence that is naturally associated with the word American. They are degenerates and have not in them the material to make good citizens. These people should not be admitted. All aliens admitted should be subject to deportation for five years instead of one. The relief to overcrowded hospitals, insane asiyums, almshouses and prisons would be wonderful. This sort of immigrants who would rather accept charity than to earn their way are not of the value of slaves, as Mr. Carnegie once said, they are a detriment in every sense of the word.

Crowding the Cities.

Our able contemporary, the New York Tribune, has recently been giving much attention to the immigration problem. The more it delves into the statistics and the more it studies the distribution of immigrants, the more favorable it grows to the policy of restriction. It began with the belief that faulty distribution was the principal evil of the system, but we believe if it will now extend its study to the recent immigrants themselves it will, at once, advance to the ground taken by The Gazette.

Tuesday the Tribune editorially discussed the concentration of fresh immigrants in the great cities and in a few eastern states, concluding that this disposition has greatly aggravated the old problem of the drift of rural population toward the crowded centers. We believe a closer analysis will convince the Tribune there has been no such extensive migration from the farms to the cities as census figures seem to show. The migration from New England and middle states farms has been largely into the open west. The pioneering instinct has sent the old stock carrying the banner of civilization into the wilderness, while the newcomers have neglected the old farms and crowded into the towns.

True, the cities have, as they always did, drawn talent from the farms. It is right that boys with more genius for commerce than for agriculture should add fresh blood to the towns, leaving the farms to bucolic brothers. These, however, have gone into the west and conquered the wilderness. Now there is almost no wilderness left to conquer. The wild, free spirits are becoming crowded for breathing room. The time has come for the government to give them aid and to stop the monstrous alien tide rolling in upon them.

Gradually the truth is dawning on many minds that a million strange people annually are not needed in this country. The fact is apparent to those who come in contact with these aliens that the vast majority are not fitted by nature for American life and conditions as they have heretofore existed. They are of inferior stock. They are not kindred to the pioneers. They ought to be excluded. They come only to enrich the transportation companies. The gates must be partly closed; in time they may have to be closed altogether, or this country will descend to the lowest European levels in its standard of living.

A Deserving Judge.

The suggestion that Judge McIlvaine be unanimously nominated by all parties for judge has been well received all over the county and is meeting everywhere with enthusiastic approval. There is not much doubt that all parties will fall in line for Judge McIlvaine and that his re-election will be by the solid vote of the entire people. This is certainly a high honor, but not a higher one than Judge McIlvaine deserves.—Washington Journal.

The World's a Stage and We the Players

Cossip of Men and Things on Both Sides of the Asbestos Curtain.

By Charles M. Bregg.

Tomorrow England's theatrical world will join in a great jubilee celebration commemorating the 50 years of stage life enjoyed by Ellen Terry, the noted actress, and for so many years the distinguished compatriot of Henry Irving. Theatergoers in America will join in spirit with their English cousins, for Miss Terry is known and loved in this country with almost equal fervor. A reader of this column in Washington, Pa., sends me some interesting extracts from Miss Terry's book, "Stray Memories," published in 1892 from which I shall quote. It is interesting to note that the jubilee celebration in honor of the actress' half century on the stage will include a fine revival of Shakespeare's "A Winter's Tale" for the reason that this was the play in which Miss Terry made her debut as a child.

Speaking of this first appearance Miss Terry says in her "Memories:"

"In justice to myself I must say that the ambition to become a good actress caught fire at a very early age. The first play in which I acted was "A Winter's Tale." I was cast for the part of Maximilius, and how my young heart swelled with pride—I can recall the sensation now—when I was told what I had to do. There is something, I suppose, in a woman's nature which always makes her recollect how she was dressed at any especial moment of her life, and I can see myself as though it were yesterday, in my little red and white coat—very short—very pink silk stockings, and a row of tight sausage curls—my mother was always very careful that they should be in perfect order and regularity—clustered round my head. A small go-cart, which it was my duty to drag about the stage, was also a source of pride, and a great trouble to me. My first dramatic failure dates from that go-cart. I was told to run about with it on the stage, and while carrying out my instructions with more vigor than discretion tripped over the handle, and down I came on my back. A titter ran through the house, and I felt that my carer as an actress was ruined for ever. Bitter and copious were the tears I shed, but I'm not sure that the incident has materially altered the course of my life."

The English actress was born at Coventry in England, February 27, 1848, and was christened Ellen Alicia, and it was under Mrs. Charles Kean that she, as a child, made her first appearance. This was in 1856. The actress refers lovingly to her parents and to the training she received through them. On this subject she declares in her "Memories:" "It must be remembered that my sister and I at this time had the advantage of exceedingly clever and conscientious parents, who spared no pains to bring out and perfect any talents we possessed. My father was a very charming elocutionist, and my mother read Shakespeare beautifully, and then both were very fond of us and saw our faults with eyes of love, though they were unsparing in their corrections. And, indeed, they had need of all their patience, for, for my own part, I know I was a most troublesome, wayward pupil. However, 'the labor we delight in physics pain,' and I hope, too, that my more staid sister 'made it up' to them."

Miss Terry was married in 1864 to E. A. Wardwell and retired from the stage. With the exception of one or two appearances in special performances she was not seen again until 1874, when she reappeared, playing with the Bancrofts, at the Prince of Wales theater, where she was seen as Portia. It was in the latter part of the year 1878 that Miss Terry for the first time acted in Henry Irving's company, when an artistic and personal association was entered upon which lasted almost to the close of Irving's life. Miss Terry began her association with Irving in the role of Ophelia to the actor's Hamlet at the Lyceum theater, December 30, 1878. After the formation of this copartnership the players visited all the leading cities of England, and in 1883 they came to America, opening in New York city in "The Bells." In this as in all the subsequent visits to this country the distinguished pair received the most cordial and enthusiastic receptions.

Miss Terry's last American visit was paid in 1902. With Sir Henry Irving she appeared last in Pittsburgh at the Alvin theater during the week of January 19, 1902. The repertoire of that week included "The Merchant of Venice" which gave us our last opportunity to see the actress' fine portrayal of Portia. During that engagement Miss Terry was given ample scope, for one play of that repertoire was almost wholly a concession to her acting art. This was "Sans Gene," Miss Terry appearing as Catherine and Mr. Irving playing Napoleon. It was Miss Terry, however, who saved the piece, for Mr. Irving's Napoleon was inadequate, a fact that caused surprise. But Miss Terry's Catherine, Madame Sans Gene, was marked by the most delightful humor and by an absence of much of the coarseness that had been seen in previous presentations of the role.

Mr. Irving came to America the following season, but Miss Terry was no longer with him. Many rumors and much gossip was created by the separation of the distinguished pair, but it was evidently for business and artistic reasons rather than because of any personal feeling.

Returning to Miss Terry's "Memories," she tells very graphically of the difference in the lives of the young players of the present period and those of the days when her career began.

"Very young actors," says Miss Terry, "sometimes complain of low salaries and long hours. I wish they could have seen Mr. Kean's salary list—they would soon cease to grumble. Why, a young man today gets as much for carrying on a coal box as an experienced actor then received for playing an important part. Then, how different the hours are! If a company now has to rehearse for four hours in the day it is thought a great hardship. But when I was a child rehearsals often used to last till four or five in the morning. What weary work it was to be sure! My poor little legs used to ache, and sometimes I could hardly keep my eyes open when I went on the stage. Often I used to creep into the green room—which everyone acquainted with the old Princess will remember well—and there, curled up in a deep recess in the window, forget myself, my trouble, and my art—if you can talk of art in connection with a child of eight—in a delicious sleep."

It is to honor the career of this delightful artist and charming woman that the English stage will conspire tomorrow. From all Miss Terry's American friends and admirers there will be extended heartfelt congratulations and the hope that many years yet remain for the exercise of gifts that have so long pleased and instructed theatergoers.

Quiet Observations on Timely Topics

The Wise Angle Worm Will Tell You When Fishing Time Comes.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Oh, spring is here!
So let us cheer.
Just let us shout with glee.
The Lord we praise
For sunny days,
And hail the happy honey bee.
On mossy logs
We see the frogs
And hail their loud batrachian notes.
And bass they rise
To catch the flies,
While melody on every zephyr floats.
Happy, happy fisherman,
Live and laugh as anglers can.

—Arrow.

When spring comes, really and truly, fishing will be here also. They are inseperable, and bare feet and stub-toes are usually in the bunch.

Fishing comes to animal man as to other animals, such as raccoons, bear and muskrat, as to various birds.

Have you ever thought seriously of the fishing question? Probably your interest in it is limited to the fun you get out of sitting on a creek bank angling for chubs, sun fish, or what not, or drifting with the current in a larger stream, or before the wind on a lake.

This is an agreeable way in which to kill time, and it is not much else. Some call it sport, but sportmen seem only to care to kill things, birds, small animals and fish. To the humanitarian there is no real enjoyment in such sport.

Fish were made for use and not merely to be tortured and killed to satisfy the taste some men have for blood, a really savage taste.

It is possible, also, that you haven't given much attention to angle, or fish worms, and may not be up to their tricks, or you may never have thought they have sense enough to be tricky.

But some folks have studied the habits of fish worms and found them to be very interesting. And others have found it very profitable to raise them. Only a few weeks ago a man sold out and went to his Swiss home with a snug fortune made by raising and selling fishworms down in New Hampshire. And there are others down east who raise them to sell to fishermen, and get good money for them.

It has been found that these worms feed mainly on vegetation, and that they come out of their holes at night so as to avoid their arch enemies, the birds.

If disturbed by an artificial light, or by the presence of persons or animals while feeding, they promptly take to their holes where they wait until the danger is past.

Worm raisers enrich the soil with grass and certain weeds for which worms show a fondness. When it comes time to harvest them the surface of the patch is scraped or shaved off clean and then covered with a slight sprinkle of grass or leaves. The rustling of the leaves seems to call them out.

The harvester uses a net, or large cloth like a sheet, or bed spread, which has been treated with bird lime or some other sticky stuff. This net, or sheet is dragged over the patch and the leaves and worms stick to it. These are then shaken or picked off, the larger worms being stored and the smaller returned to the patch to grow bigger.

Fish worms delight in April showers, and often they become too gay or giddy during a warm shower, and pay for their temerit with their lives.

No doubt you have often seen the asphalt walks in the parks thickly strewn with the carcasses of worms after a shower. Many people imagine that they have been rained down from the clouds.

There used to be a good deal of speculation on this, some would-be-scientists claiming that they had been carried off in heavy fogs, or drawn up by the sun when it was "drawing water," as it was said to be doing when streaky, or shafts of light seem to radiate from it like spokes from the hub of a wheel, after a rain.

The fact of the matter is that when the ground becomes dry and hard the worms starve for water and they grow thin and pale. When a light shower falls they come to the surface to quench their thirst, and if water is not plentiful they crawl in search of it. Many of those that get onto a hard, rough pavement are unable to get back into the ground again, and when the sun comes out hot they die, or are gobbled up by birds.

In the fall of the year you may notice a great many leaves sticking up out of the ground, their stems being in the worms' holes. The worms draw these in to feed on. At times thousands of leaves may be found partially dragged into these holes.

There are many interesting things about fishworms, their habits, and their uses.

But to get back to the fish.

About this time of the year you indulge your taste for shad roe more or less.

When eating a fine roe have you ever realized that you were eating a million eggs or more, each of which, under favorable circumstances, would develop a shad?

The next time you are feasting on fish roe take the trouble to note the number of eggs massed together.

According to Gunther, a standard authority on fishology, the average herring lays about 25,000 eggs. It is one of the smaller food fish, and very abundant, the average catch in the North sea and Atlantic exceeding two billion, if you know what that means.

The same authority says that three and a half million eggs have been counted in a halibut, seven and a half million in sturgeon, and over nine millions in cod.

Were all these to hatch and grow into fish they would soon fill the oceans and lakes as full as salmon fill the Columbia river in the fishing season—so full that boats cannot navigate.

But from the time the eggs are laid the enemies get busy, destroying eggs, small fry, young fish, and so on until full development and natural death, and then the carcass is eaten up as cleanly as that of a calf in wolfland.

Although man destroys, or consumes great quantities of fish, these represent only a fraction of one per cent of the eggs laid.

Why She Stopped the Paper.

She came down the street three steps at a time and sailed into the Observer office like a whirlwind. She waited for no ceremony, but wildly asked:

"Is this the printin' office?"

"Yes, madam."

"I want to stop my paper."

"Stop it right away, too."

"It's stopped," we replied, making a blue line through her husband's name on the subscription list.

"Mebbe that will learn you some hoss sense and how to do the square thing next time and not slight people just because they're poor. If some rich stuckup folks happen to have a bald-headed, knock-kneed, cross-eyed brat born to 'em you're in a awful hurry to put it in the paper and make it out an angel, but when poor people have a baby you can't say a word about it, even if it is the purtiest child ever borned. That's what I'm stoppin' the paper fur. This ort to be a lesson to every paper in Michigan," and she went out of the office as mad as a wet hen.—Coopersville (Mich.) Observer.

A Lucky Fit.

The arrival of precocious asparagus from those magic market gardens, where nothing is in fashion unless it is out of season, reminds us of the famous French wit, Fontenelle. A friend who called upon him was pressed to stay for dinner. "We will have asparagus," said Fontenelle, who was an epicure in food as in words. "With oil," amended his guest. "But I prefer it with sauce," objected Fontenelle. "Sauce disagrees with me," the friend pointed out. "Oh, very well," said Fontenelle, with a very bad grace, and he went to give in the order. On his return he found his guest in an apoplectic fit. Back went Fontenelle to the top of the kitchen stairs. "Cook," he roared, "you can dress the asparagus with sauce."—London Chronicle.

A Concession to Democracy.

As Elliott Woods, the superintendent of the capitol, was walking with "Uncle Joe" Cannon from the street cars to the capitol this morning, Mr. Woods noticed several pairs of crows that were building their nests up in the carvings of the columns around the dome.

He pointed them out to "Uncle Joe" and remarked: "I think those crows are getting too familiar. I will send a man up there and drive them out."

"Oh, no, let them alone," said the speaker, gazing interestingly at the noisy intruders that were cawing to one another. "We must concede something to our Democratic brethren."—New York Times.

His Misgivings.

The following little anecdote hails from the Highlands: It was Donald the gamekeeper's boast that he knew the full designation of every aristocratic guest at the castle, and, "moreover," knew how to address them as "your grace," "my lord," etc. "Man," said one of his cronies, on hearing him reel off a list of titles, "I wonder you mind all these names. Do you never make any mistake whatever?" "No," replied Donald, with pride, but correcting himself, "at least, not often; but this week, man, I rayly think I did mak' a mistake. You see, there was an English clergyman staying with us—a dean or bishop, as they call them. I went out to the shooting with him in the morning, and as we went down the path a rabbit crossed it, and I just said to him, 'Shoot the deevil, your holiness,' and, do you know, from the way he looked at me, somehow I don't think I gave him his right title."—New York Tribune.

He Was Ill.

A publisher who occupies a loft in Seventeenth street, directed one of his clerks to hang out a "Boy wanted" sign at the street entrance a few days ago. The card had been swinging in the breeze only a few minutes when a red-headed little lad climbed in the publisher's office with the sign under his arm.

"Say, mister," he demanded of the publisher: "Did youse hang out this here 'Boy wanted' sign?"

"I did," replied the publisher sternly. "Why did you tear it down?"

Back of his freckles the youngster was gazing in wonder at the man's stupidity.

"Hully gee!" he blurted. "Why, I'm the boy!"

And he was.—New York Sun.

FITCH VERSION OF DAUDET.

Miss Nethersole Has Largest Audience of Her Engagement to See This Drama.

A rural critic in one of the western towns, sent by his newspaper to write a review of an actor's performance, returned and sent the following single paragraph to the printers:

"John Smith acted Hamlet at the opera house last night, and acted it until 11:30 o'clock."

Following this distinguished example it might be said that Miss Olga Nethersole acted Clyde Fitch's miserably constructed and sensational hunting version of Daudet's "Sapho" at the Nixon last night and acted it until sometime after 11 o'clock.

It is folly to inveigh against the unwholesome drama when players receive larger compensation for this work than for purer, more helpful plays. It is a pity, however, to find a woman of Miss Nethersole's talents wasting them in giving vitality to such characters. It is also a pity to find so many people who seek the sensational where it can be followed without any qualms of respectability. If Fitch's version of this play was stripped of the cloak of respectability that a first-class theater gives it, its death-knell would be sounded. There is no moral in the play. It is a bald, boldly-written page from a history, which, if printed in a newspaper for which a penny is paid, would secure for that paper the term "yellow," if it didn't debar it from the mails. Clothed in the panopoly of dramatic art(?) there are plenty of people who pay $1 50 a seat to see it.

More's the pity.

CASUAL GLIMPSES AROUND THE CITY

Notes About People and Events in Which Pittsburghers Are Interested.

W. H. Campbell, formerly secretary of the Builders' Exchange league of Pittsburgh, who became connected with the New York Employers' association two years ago, spent yesterday in Pittsburgh, leaving last night for the west. He was here to renew old friendships and to look over the Pittsburgh labor situation from the standpoint of demand and supply.

"It is characteristic of the country's stability," said Mr. Campbell, "the way the country's finances, susceptible to the slightest setback, have withstood the San Francisco disaster. Inasmuch as that city, in its modern aspects, took 30 years to build, with the labor on hand, it can easily be seen how the market for skilled and unskilled labor will be affected when the call comes for its rebuilding. The small cities of the west need all the labor they already have, and there are no large cities floating population to draw from. Consequently, the largest proportion of labor will be drawn from Pittsburgh and the east. foreigners who will have a chance to grow up and develop with a great city. They will thereby attain a far better American spirit than if existing in the foreign slums of great cities without the slightest chance of uplifting themselves."

Two weeks ago Mr. Campbell read a paper on "Capital and Labor" before the Chicago Employers' association in the Auditorium annex. He is now in business for himself in the New York field.

Immigrants for the West.

The immediate effect of the 18,000 immigrants who landed in Ellis Island last week was to be seen in two large immigrant trains handled by the Baltimore & Ohio yesterday. The two trains aggregated 25 closely-packed cars, and contained about 1,500 recently landed immigrants, with Italians and Slavs predominating. Through an interpreter it was learned that many of these new arrivals are aware of the true import of the 'Frisco horror, and the bearing the rebuilding will have on the demand for labor. Accordingly many of them have shrewdly determined to get off at far western points, where they will work until a demand for their services arises in San Francisco, and they will be welcomed with attractive wages. A feature of the importation was that only 1 per cent of the total number—about 15—left the train at Pittsburgh.

STONE WILLING TO HEAD TICKET

Warren Republican Would Not Refuse the Nomination for Office of Governor.

GUTHRIE TO NAME DEMOCRATS

Charles W. Stone of Warren, who is frequently mentioned in connection with the Republican nomination for governor, was in Pittsburgh yesterday on his way to Philadelphia. He is in a receptive mood and if the chance comes his way to head the ticket this fall, he will not decline the honor.

Eight years ago Mr. Stone was in sight of the nomination. Since then he has not been active in politics. For the last couple of months his friends in all parts of the state have been urging him to become a candidate for the nomination. Quite a number of delegates have been promised and the former congressman is satisfied he could be elected this fall.

While in Pittsburgh Mr. Stone made some inquiries from friends about the local delegation to the state convention. As the delegates have not been elected, he was unable to secure much information. He went to Philadelphia last night, where he has some cases to argue before the supreme court.

Mayor Guthrie is expected to appoint the police magistrates and city assessors on May 1. For the former positions, this state is said to have his approval: F. J. Brady, Nineteenth ward; Louis Kimmel, Twenty-eighth ward; James J. Kirby, Ninth ward; James Kane, Thirteenth ward, and Capt. J. D. Walker, Twentieth ward. Walker is a Citizen and the others are Democrats.

These men are said to be slated for city assessors: Samuel J. Graham, Twenty-second ward, chief assessor; Thomas McMahon, Seventeenth ward; A. J. Pitcairn, Nineteenth ward; John Lawley, Twenty-first ward, and H. C. Digby, Thirty-fifth ward. The last three are now in office. Pitcairn is a Republican. Graham and McMahon are Democrats. Graham has been mentioned for several important offices, but he has said each time that he did not expect to hold any city position. He is a lawyer and a close friend of Mayor Guthrie. If this slate goes through Jere Doherty, Democrat, of the Fourteenth ward, and E. E. Seibert, Republican of the Eighteenth ward, will be removed.

The information made by Councilman W. H. Stevenson of the Fourteenth ward, against William Thomas, accused of illegal voting in the Tenth district of the Fourteenth ward at the February election, was yesterday ordered returned to the next grand jury by quarter sessions court. The present grand jury ignored the bill, and Mr. Stevenson says the first he knew of the fact was on Wednesday when a process was served on him for costs. The court ordered all proceedings stayed until the next grand jury passed on the case. Mr. Stevenson was represented by Attorney W. K. Jennings, who presented a petition to the court setting forth that "the petitioner was not present at the examination of other witnesses and is not able to state what testimony was given by them, but he was informed by G. M. Kinzer that he had been cut short in his testimony and dismissed from the room by the assistant district attorney before he had a chance to testify in full." Mr. Stevenson says he had several witnesses who were ready to testify against the accused, but the assistant district attorney did not send for him or notify him when he would call the cases, or ask for his list of witnesses. He also says Thomas was defended at the hearing before the alderman by the law partner of the assistant district attorney, who conducted the case before the grand jury and that he has been informed by W. H. Wood the assistant district attorney advised Thomas that he had a right to vote and he would see he was protected.

The affidavit of Wood saying he employed Thomas as his stable at 2806 Forbes street, and setting forth that he refused to vouch for him on election day because he did not know whether he slept in the stable or at his home in the Twenty-second ward, is attached to the petition. G. M. Kinzer also makes affidavit that he warned Thomas that he had no right to vote in the Fourteenth ward. District Attorney Stewart told the court he thought the case ought to go back to the grand jury.

Want City Improvements.

The residents of the Forty-first ward, formerly Sterrett township, are complaining because they have no police protection, nor sewers and no sidewalks. They want a special election held to name select and common councilmen, but Mayor Guthrie will not issue a proclamation until the date for holding the Greater Pittsburgh election has been fixed. The councilmanic election in the Forty-first ward will be held on that day to save expense.

RELIEF WORK IS NOW SYSTEMATIC

Decided Progress Has Been Made in Caring for Victims of Shock and Flames.

MILITARY RIGIDITY RELAXED

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—The relief work has made rapid progress. It is now in the hands of the military authorities and has been perfected and systematized until the feeding and sheltering of the thousands of hungry and homeless people is going on expeditiously. Five hundred teams are hauling supplies to the 60 odd relief depots today. There is still a scarcity of sugar and coffee and an urgent and pressing need for more blankets, cots and tents owing to the unusual cold nights for this season of the year which now prevails.

With the relaxation of the military law and the abolishing of passes permitting people to return to their city, thousands of curiosity seekers were attracted from across the bay yesterday and today hundreds gazed sadly upon the ruins of their homes and dug through the ashes for some treasured momento.

The marines yesterday destroyed a considerable quantity of liquors in that section of the city in which they hold sway.

Restoration of the telephone system is making good headway. Forty telephones were in operation yesterday, but the dynamiting of walls temporarily put some of them out of commission again. The dairymen's association has announced it will furnish milk free to the relief organizations until May 1.

"Bankers' row" is being organized on La Cuna street, west of Lafayette square. The Crocker-Woolworth National bank, the Central Trust Company and the Mercantile Trust Company already have placed their cotton banners on residences overlooking the tented camps of the refugees in the square. This is a bringing together of those that have money (in vaults) and those who need it.

One of the most encouraging reports with reference to the work of rebuilding the burned district is that of the San Francisco Planing Mill Owners' association. Fifteen of the 39 mills escaped the fire and two of them are now in operation. The association says it will soon be in position to furnish all mill work necessary.

The steamer Buckman of the Alaska line, in command of Capt. E. B. Wood, arrived here late last night with volunteer physicians, Red Cross nurses and a cargo of 2,200 tons of provisions and supplies for the homeless people of this city.

Off Cape Blanco yesterday a great wave struck the ship with terrific force, smashing two of the boats as if they were eggshells. Tons of water rolled over the decks of the steamer, which quivered from stem to stern and threatened every moment to founder. Capt. Wood, his first officer and the chief engineer were swept from their feet. It was little short of a miracle that they were not washed overboard. The wall of water had all the appearance of a gigantic tidal wave.

The Buckman was sent to San Francisco by the chambers of commerce of Seattle and Tacoma to carry relief. A large sum of money was raised by the two northern cities, and no ship was ever loaded and put out of a Pacific coast port in so short a time.

ACTORS GIVE A LARGE BENEFIT AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, April 26.—President Roosevelt gave by telegraph shortly after noon today, a signal which started the all-star entertainment given under the Bernhardt tent on the lake front here for the benefit of the San Francisco sufferers. The tent was thrown open an hour earlier for a concert by a volunteer orchestra of 500. After the President's signal was received, Mme. Bernhardt made an address in French. This was followed by a long program in which actors now playing at the various theaters of the city took part.

GREELY ASKS FOR MORE SOLDIERS

Conditions Demand Additional Troops, He Wires, and Department Will Send Them.

CHINESE AID IS DECLINED

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Gen. Greely has insisted upon additional troops for San Francisco. His telegram read:

Desire especially to call attention of secretary of war and chief of staff to necessity for additional troops. Not only is the present force inadequate to fully guard the interests of the city, but they have been necessarily overworked in the past and are overtaxed today. Distances are simply enormous and conditions demanding military action can best be subserved by sending as large a force of mounted men as is possible. The spirit and conduct of the troops, officers and men has maintained the high standing of the American army, and a continuance of physical stress and mental responsibility is not advisable in the present high tension of affairs.

The troops requested will be furnished Gen. Greely.

The following dispatch, also from Gen. Greely, dated San Francisco yesterday, was received at the war department today:

The following are names of dead not previously reported:

Catherine Brown, John Berg (or Day), Harry Chesebro, Ah Sung, Emma Kittner, Herman Meyer, W. Myrke (Japanese), Marc Paris, James Pulos, J. Rankin, Ciro Rifesi, Lewis Robinson, (colored), William Vail, George Walker, Young Won.

This does not increase the grand total. Investigations proceeding regarding those injured. Hope to furnish quite complete report on the 28th.

The empress dowager of China offered a personal subscription of $15,000 to American Minister Rockhill at Pekin for the relief of the San Francisco sufferers which Mr. Rockhill was instructed today by the state department to decline, with an expression of the appreciation of the government. It is probable that this money will be sent direct to Chinese representatives in San Francisco for the use of the homeless Chinese.

Sir Chen Tung Liang-Cheng, the Chinese minister, received dispatches today from China showing that movements for the relief of the Chinese in California have been instituted in many parts of China. Nine charitable organizations in Hongkong have subscribed, and amounts have been contributed in other cities.

The Chinese consul general in San Francisco was not injured in the earthquake, and has established a temporary consulate in Oakland.

CIGARETS CAN BE SMOKED IN INDIANA

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., April 26.—The Parks anti-cigaret law passed by the last session of the Indiana legislature was declared valid today by the supreme court. The court interpreted the law as meaning that it is illegal to sell cigarets in Indiana or keep them for sale, but it is not illegal to smoke them, and it is not illegal to bring them into the state.

Prepare for Dewey's Trip Through Suez.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—In order to avoid an absolute closure of the Suez canal to shipping during the six days that will be occupied in the passage of the drydock Dewey, it has been found necessary to provide a number of pockets at the sides in which the dock can be placed during the nights while other shipping uses the canal.

Battleship Missouri Takes Prize.

GUANTANAMO, CUBA, April 26.—The Kearsarge commanded by Capt. H. Winslow, and the Missouri by Capt. E. C. Pendleton, both belonging to the first division of the first battleship squadron of the Atlantic fleet, have returned from the target practice. The Missouri has won the first prize for the best all-around shooting.

WILL MAKE FINER CITY OF OLD SANTA ROSA

The Residents Determined to Quickly Repair the Damage Done to Pretty Town.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SANTA ROSA, CAL., April 26.—The latest figures show 41 dead, 63 injured and seven missing here. The entire business section of Santa Rosa and many residences were destroyed. Twenty fires started, but the water supply was unimpaired, and within three hours the flames were under control. Cut off by the disaster from communication with the rest of the world, Santa Rosa knew nothing of the destruction of San Francisco until the arrival from there of a trainload of 1,000 refugees, begging for help that could not be given them. But nearby towns came to the rescue after a period of hunger and suffering and aid was received.

So soon as the dead were buried businessmen began clearing a passage way through the streets and teams were put to work hauling away the rubbish. It is the intention to at once begin rebuilding the city on a more elaborate scale.

In Lakeport, Lake county, a severe shock was felt at 5:40 a. m. on April 18 which did considerable damage.

A large portion of the fire wall of the Lake View hotel crashed through the porches and brick annex. The two-story brick walls of Masonic hall, in course of construction, was reduced to ruins. Several other brick blocks were cracked, chimneys toppled over through the town and show windows of the business places for the full length of Main street were shattered. No one was injured. The loss to the Masonic hall is about $4,000.

At Albion, Mendocino county, a heavy shock was felt at 5:26 a. m. on the morning of April 18. The Occidental hotel is a wreck. All the big sawmills in this region are badly damaged. They will have to shut down for some time. So far as can be learned there were no lives lost.

At Anderson, in Shasta county, the earthquake occurred at 5:30 a. m. Chimneys tumbled down and houses were demolished. There are many wide fissures in the earth. Slides along the Southern Humboldt Lumber Company's railroad line took place. The damage to the Southern Humboldt Lumber Company's dam across Indian creek will run into the thousands.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ELECTS NEW PRESIDENT

Maj. Burchfield Declines to Serve and Successor Is Elected by Directors.

H. D. W. English Chosen.

H. D. W. English was yesterday elected president of the chamber of commerce, Maj. A. P. Burchfield having declined. The election was by the board of directors of the chamber, it being empowered to fill vacancies.

In his letter of declination Maj. Burchfield said he had too many other duties. He also said he had told John Eaton, the former president who was renominated for the office, he did not want the presidency, when Mr. Eaton suggested that he be a candidate. Were he now to accept the office, Maj. Burchfield said, he would seem to have been insincere in his statement to Mr. Eaton. Maj. Burchfield was a member of the nominating committee which nominated Mr. Eaton, and was away from the city when those opposed to Mr. Eaton elected the major. The board then elected Mr. English in his stead.

The membership committee reported in favor of the following applications: James B. Morgan, Jr., Harry Davis, W. H. Williams, Thomas McConnell, Stuart H. Robinson, H. R. Siebeneck, Emil Swensson, S. C. McMaster & Co., T. E. Billquist, Edwin K. Morse, Hugo Levin and Bennie Neiman.

WOMEN SHOULD WALK LIKE AN "S"

And by All Means Take Care of Floating Rib, Says "Instructor Extraordinary."

DEMONSTRATES WITH MODELS

Walk like an "S" and take care of your floating rib.

This information is for ladies only, and is strictly fashionable—as a matter of fact, it is just a little ahead of current issues of plates, and was made known last evening by Miss Elizabeth A. C. White, president of the Dressmakers' Protective association and "instructor extraordinary."

Miss White, with the aid of a number of living models, 56 Parisian gowns, and 27 varieties of corsets, began demonstrations in the Hotel Annex yesterday for the benefit of 4,500 dressmakers of Western Pennsylvania, who are members of the association. The demonstrations will continue morning, afternoon and evening for the balance of the week. These include tea-less teas, meuless weddings, and dinners at which nothing is "Eton" but the jackets.

Of course none of this concerns the men, aside from any bills which may accrue, and they are, therefore, barred from attending any of the demonstrations—particularly the living model display of gowns, robes and—and corsets.

Corsets and the Hospitals.

"Corsets," said Miss White, to a reporter yesterday afternoon, after he had been removed one floor from the exhibits, "are the means of sending thousands of American women to the hospitals. Now I've made a study of corsets since I was a little girl. Why, would you believe it—when I first became saleslady for one of New York's aristocratic costumers, my waist measured 28 inches."

The reporter never suspected it.

"It's so," continued Miss White, "and I never laced, and couldn't lace now if I wanted to, because my floating rib is hard. You see, the floating rib is where the pressure lies, and a woman who will not permit it room forces it to rot. When I was a girl I began making all sorts of changes in my corset, until I finally had what became to be known as the "straight front." Of course, I did not call it by that name, but one day while demonstrating some one stole the idea. I could have made a million dollars out of it by patenting it—but I don't care—I love the work.

Advice for Poor Women.

"Now take these gowns I show. They are ahead of the fashion. I explain the movements of each gown, and if my hearers are attentive they can get the same results out of a 5-cent-a-yard calico as they could out of $1,000-a-yard cloth. It's all in the movements. Now some skirts have six movements—there's only one or two—but it's all in the movements."

Turning back to a discussion of corsets, Miss White announced that the "straight front" was still in vogue, and that in her "hygienia corset wear" discourse she strongly advised throwing the shoulders back and discourage the "kangaroo walk," imploring her hearers to affect the "S"-shaped walk for many beneficial reasons.

The exhibits of modes showed the princess effect to prevail. One Paquin gown is trimmed in Richelieu pleating. Like many others, it is a three-piece suit and is valued at $700.

A coral-colored "invisible check French voile" from Maison Templier of Paris is also in three pieces, which includes coat, and is valued at $1,000. A creation of Duchess lace held together by bands of net and embroidery was valued at $1,000.

And These Are Strictly New.

Pony coats and Bolero coats were other things the reporter was introduced to, while one-piece suits with hidden hooks and eyes in the front were displayed as being strictly new. Another piece of information—flouard is now known as "spotted flouard," whether it has spots or not. Green buttons, white yokes and oriental waterproof silk were announced as fashionable; also white slippers.

Yesterday afternoon an imaginary tea was given. One of the living models received in a lavender Empire pleated crepe dress. Miss White came as a visitor in French voile directoire, with hat and boa. Another caller came in a walking suit, demonstrating to the audience that tea can be drank in other than carriage attire. Another caller arrived in a carriageless carriage in radium silk.

From the wedding gown exhibits the reporter drew the following deductions for appropriate and fashionable shades:

First marriage—green.
Second marriage—yellow.
Third marriage—blue.
Fourth and thereafter—black and blue.

Miss White last evening delivered her discourse on the corset, using live models for illustration. The proper uses of this device were portrayed and methods to be employed to harmonize the stout and the lean into graceful forms were told.

The Death Roll.

Emil Foersler.

Emil Foerster, aged 84, a prominent artist and musician, died at 8:15 yesterday morning at his home, 415 Noble street. He had been failing in health for some time past, but his condition until within a day or two of his death was not considered serious. Mr. Foerster was born May 15, 1822, in Giessen, Germany. He left Giessen while the German revolution was in progress, and was married in 1849 to Miss Elise Marie Noll, by the United States consul at Frankfort. They came to this country soon afterward, locating in Chambersburg first, and coming to Pittsburgh a few years later. Mr. Foerster was an intimate friend of Stephen C. Foster, and acted as a pallbearer at the latter's funeral. In the early part of his career he sang in a number of church choirs. Funeral of Patrick Barrett.

Solemn high mass of requiem will be celebrated at 10 o'clock this morning at the Church of the Epiphany in memory of Patrick Barrett. "The Sage of the Fifth Ward," whose death occurred Tuesday evening at 901 Wylie avenue. For 30 years Barrett lived and kept a tobacco store at Sixth and Webster avenues, and recently he was notified that he would have to secure other quarters. He was unable to obtain another location in the ward in which he was so well known, and this fact is said to have preyed heavily on his mind, causing his illness. He was known personally to every resident of the Fifth ward, he for 18 years having been a director in the Hancock school board. Barrett was an ardent Democrat and, although a cripple, always took a lively interest in politics.

Mrs. Editha Wells Scott.

Mrs. Scott is survived by the following children in addition to Davis G. and John T.: Mrs. Katherine Elliott, Toronto, O.; Mrs. Gilbert Gaston, Steubenville, O., and Mrs. Judge S. Lord and Mrs. James Riley, Cleveland, O. The funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorow at Richmond, O.

Funeral of Father Miskiewicz.

Thousands of parishioners and friends paid tribute yesterday to the memory of the Rev. Father L. M. A. Miskiewicz, pastor of St. Adelbatt's Polish Catholich church, South Side, when funeral services were held. The church in front of the chancel was a mass of flowers and floral emblems. It was crowded with mourners and over a thousand failed to gain admission. Solemn requiem high mass was sung, the celebrant being the Rev. Father J. G. Orzynski of St. Mary's, McKeesport, who was assisted by Father Swiagro and Father Sefkalkis. The sermon was preached by Bishop Canevin. Knights of St. George acted as honorary escort for the funeral cortege.

Louis Huber.

Mr. Huber was in his 69th year. He was born in Northern Germany, and came to this country when a youth, settling in Allegheny nearly 40 years ago. He is survived by his widow and five children—Paul and Louis Huber, Mrs. Bertha Reeves, Mrs. Thomas Wheeler and Miss Hettie Huber, all of Allegheny. The funeral arrangements have not been completed.

WENT ON CRUTCHES

UNTIL DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS CURED HIS RHEUMATISM.

A Printer Tells of the Accidental Way In Which He Learned of the Remedy That He Praises.

"Some years ago," says Mr. W. H. Clark, a printer, living at 612 Buchanan street, Topeka, Kans., "I had a bad attack of rheumatism and could not seem to get over it. All sorts of medicines failed to do me any good and my trouble kept getting worse. My feet were so swollen that I could not wear shoes and I had to go on crutches. The pain was terrible.

"One day I was setting the type of an article for the paper telling what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had done for a man afflicted as I was and I was so impressed with it that I determined to give the medicine a trial. For a year my rheumatism had been growing worse, but after taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I began to improve. The pain and swelling all disappeared and I can truthfully say that I haven't felt better in the past twenty years than I do right now. I could name, off hand, a half-dozen people who have used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at my suggestion and who have received good results from them."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure rheumatism because they make rich, red blood and no man or woman can have healthy blood and rheumatism at the same time. Rheumatism is a disease of the blood, and to cure it you must treat it in the blood. Every part and every tissue of the body is dependent on the blood for health. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new blood. That is why they have cured so many cases of anaemia, neuralgia, sciatica, partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia and other diseases that have not yielded to ordinary treatment.

All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

PASTOR RUSSELL IN DIVORCE SUIT

Wife Says He Once Likened Himself to Jelly Fish and Was Generous With Embraces.

BRINGS IN DOMESTIC'S NAME

The divorce suit of Maria Frances Russell against her husband, the Rev. Charles T. Russell, whose sensational lecture "To Hell and Back," attracted much attention throughout the country, began yesterday before Judge Collier. Russell, who has no church, but who is editor and proprietor of the Zion Watch Tower publications and president of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract society of Allegheny, is charged by the wife with indignities. When opening for Mrs. Russell Attorney S. C. Porter referred to undue intimacy with one Rose Ball, a domestic, but later admitted, as did Mrs. Russell, that this was not to be understood as criminal intimacy.

Attorneys J. McF. Carpenter and William M. McJunkin, who represent Russell, objected to this address and asked for a continuance of the case, because of Mr. Porter's address, when indignities only were charged in the libel. Judge Collier refused it, but told the libellant's attorneys they must confine their testimony to evidence of indignities and cruel treatment.

Mrs. Russell said she was 56 years old and that she married Mr. Russell in 1879, leaving him in 1897. She told of her work in assisting in publishing "Zion's Watch Tower," and claimed to have written as much of it as did the Rev. Mr. Russell. Referring to his alleged ill-treatment of her she claimed to have seen her husband in his night clothes sitting on the domestic's bed, and she said she knew he visited her room on other occasions. She said this woman, Rose Ball, had told her Mr. Russell embraced and kissed her, and showed other manifestations of affection.

What Constitute Indignities.

Mr. Carpenter objected to all this, but the court said if a man went around hugging and kissing other women and then admitted it to his wife, if true, it was proper evidence to show indignity.

The witness said she told her husband of this conversation with the girl, and he replied, she claims: "I am like a jelly fish, floating around touching this one and that, and when one responds I embrace them." This, the witness said, was in 1894, and Judge Collier directed it be stricken from the records, as it was before the date complained of in the bill. This gets Mrs. Russell's evidence before the jury, but will not give Mr. Russell a chance to deny it.

Mrs. Russell also testified to other incidents charging him with extravagance, of his refusal to discontinue her name as secretary of the tract society when she heard reports about the use of its funds which she did not like, on which occasion, she said, he took her by the arm, put her out of his office and called her a blasphemer.

When she agreed with him that she was a "Women's Rights" woman, she said he told her she had no rights which he was bound to respect. This is the point where all the trouble started. It was alleged by Russell, his wife wanting to use "Zion's Watch Tower" to exploit her views on "Women's Rights," and he refused to permit it. When asked this, however, she denied it, and said she believed everyone should have their rights.

Wrote Friends Not to Harbor Her.

Finally in December, 1896, they ceased speaking, and at a church meeting in September, 1897, he reported that everything was well between them. She said she refused to sign a circular letter to that effect, but that he finally compelled her to do so by following her about the rooms of their home all night and the next day, when it was finally signed by her. This circular was signed by both Russell and his wife, her two sisters and a friend, and was for circulation among their intimate friends who knew of their trouble. Mrs. Russell on cross-examination, admitted she carried the circular to her two sisters and had them sign it.

Mrs. Russell visited Chicago in September, 1897, and she says he wrote the organizations here not to harbor her, and when she came back she did not return to him. Other testimony related to money given to the secretary and the witness' objection to how it was spent, leading to many differences between them. Reverting to her return from Chicago she said Mr. Russell locked the door of the office on her, refused to let her in and denied her the privilege of getting her clothing from her home. Reverting also to the church meeting she said she was denied admission there, but heard through a hole in the window her husband's declaration that she was a conceited anarchist and under her sister's hypnotic influence.

Letter Told of Their Troubles.

J. H. Brown of Chicago said he had received a letter from Mr. Russell, which was read. It told only of their trouble, in which Mr. Russell hoped for a reconciliation. Mrs. Russell was then recalled and told of the marriage of Rose Ball to a Mr. Henning, connected with the Bible house, and that they were sent to Australia in its interest. She claimed to contribute to the support of the home on Cedar avenue by keeping roomers after her return from Chicago, which house had been furnished by Mr. Russell. He did not visit her there.

Mrs. N. C. Brace and a Mrs. Horton testified to the strained relations, but did not specify instances, except to refer to the rumors and talk of the neighbors. Judge Collier at this point asked to what denomination Mr. Russell belonged. Mr. Porter said it was a "sort of Dowie association." Mr. Carpenter jumped up and objected at once, but Judge Collier waived them both aside and closed the session there. It will be resumed this morning.

PERFORMANCE GREAT SUCCESS

Shylock & Co., Here Saturday, Promises a Theatrical Treat.

J. Warren Coulston, Jr., treasurer of "The Mask and Wig Club" of the University of Pennsylvania, reached Pittsburgh yesterday and reports a phenomenal week in Philadelphia, where the club played for six nights and two matinees, ending last Saturday night. He stated that the total receipts in Philadelphia were over $20,000, breaking all club records. Of the many successes of the Mask and Wig club, "Shylock & Co." is unquestionably the best. About 100 students will take part and the performance, which is a burlesque on "The Merchant of Venice," will be given at the Belasco theater next Saturday afternoon and evening.

Pittsburgh society promises to be well represented at both the afternoon and evening performances. The offices of the Mask and Wig club and the entire cast and chorus will be entertained at a smoker Saturday night after the performance at the Union club. This smoker will be given under the auspices of the Pittsburgh Alumni Society of the University of Pennsylvania.

The Mantell Engagement.

The Mantell sale was opened yesterday morning in the Nixon theater, and proved to be a matter of such general interest that a line of purchasers was at the box office throughout the day. "Richelieu" showed perhaps the largest patronage, there hardly being a seat left for the Wednesday matinee. The other plays will be given as follows: "King Lear" on Monday and Friday nights, "Macbeth" on Tuesday night and Saturday afternoon, "Hamlet" on Wednesday night, "Othello" on Thursday night, and "King Richard III." Mr. Mantell's great success of last year's long Pittsburgh engagement, as the farewell bill, on Saturday night.

Mayor Guthrie Means Business.

Thomas Patterson of Patterson, Sterrett & Acheson, counsel for the Pennsylvania railroad, denied yesterday that the railroad company is preparing to apply for an injunction to restrain the city from tearing up the Liberty street tracks on May 6, the limit fixed by Mayor Guthrie for removing the tracks. Mr. Patterson said he did not think that Mayor Guthrie would insist upon removing the tracks. Mayor Guthrie says he intends to stand by his decision that the tracks must be taken up before the date specified.

IMMIGRANTS FILL CITY HOSPITALS

Allegheny Expends Four-Fifths of Its Relief Fund Upon Unfortunate Foreigners.

AUSTRIANS SEEK CHARITY

Charity Director Kirschler of Allegheny is an ardent advocate of restricted immigration. The necessity for this was borne in upon him yesterday when John Darvis, aged 16, and his brother Alvin, aged 18, Russians living in Eisenbeis court, were sent to St. John's hospital by the charity department, suffering from typhoid fever.

"At least four-fifths of the people in the city home, who receive outdoor relief or are city patients at the hospitals are foreigners," said the director. "Very few of the younger patients are Americans and scarcely any natives come here for outdoor relief, and when they once get on our books it is like pulling teeth to get them off. Our immigration laws are at fault."

James F. Bailey, chief clerk of the department, says the immigration laws ought to be revised. "We exclude the Chinese from this country," he said, "and I think we ought to exclude some other nationalities. In all the years I have been connected with this department we have not had the name of a Chinaman on our books."

Dr. F. H. Frederick, select councilman from the Fifth ward, in referring to the Darvis cases, said: "The peculiar location of Greater Pittsburgh, lying in a sort of trough, makes it hard for strangers, especially foreigners, to keep well. They are particularly susceptible to attacks of typhoid fever and pneumonia, and foreigners seem just ripe for these diseases when they arrive here. The Darvis brothers are good examples of my theory."

Shocking conditions in the foreign quarter of lower Allegheny have been found by Tenement Inspector Schwartz. One four-room house was occupied by 24 Slave, 19 boarders and a family of five. The air was filled with disease germs. Schwartz ordered the house cleaned within five days and will allow but two beds to a room.

In Pittsburgh eight cases of typhoid fever, three of pneumonia, one of scarlet fever, nine of measles, one of mumps and one of spinal meningitis were reported yesterday.

GENERAL PORTER THANKED.

Enterprise in the Removal of John Paul Jones' Remains Recognized in Resolution.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—A resolution extending the thanks of the country to Gen. Horace Porter, former ambassador to Paris, for his enterprise in securing the body of John Paul Jones, was presented in the house today by Representative William Alden Smith, of Michigan.

Secretary Bonaparte has recommended to Senator Hale and Representative Ross, chairmen respectively of the senate and house naval affairs committees, an appropriation of $125,000 for finishing the crypt of the chapel of the naval academy at Annapolis, which is to be the final resting place of the body of John Paul Jones, in a manner appropriate to such purpose.

Gen. Arthur suggested this action in lieu of any reimbursement to him for his expenditures of $35,000 from his private means in disinterring and bringing the body here.

M'AFEE REJECTS GOYNE PAPERS

Republican Organization Will Commence Suit to Test New Senatorial District Act.

PUTS MATTER UP TO COURT

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, HARRISBURG, April 26.

HARRISBURG, PA., April 26.—Secretary of the Commonwealth McAfee today rejected the papers upon which the Schuylkill county Republican organization will test the constitutionality of the senatorial apportionment act passed at the recent extra session of the legislature. These papers nominate John Goyne, Jr., of Mahonoy City, as the candidate of the Citizens party for senator in the old Thirtieth district, composed of a portion of Schuylkill county.

Goyne's attorneys recently left with Secretary McAfee papers nominating Goyne, and then followed it up by filing objections to the papers in order to raise the question of the constitutionality of the new senatorial apportionment act. When the case was called for argument today Deputy Attorney General Fleitz called the court's attention to the fact that Goyne's papers were not on file in the department, and that a copy of the objections had not been filed with Secretary McAfee.

Inquiry at the state department showed that Secretary McAfee had attached to the papers a memorandum to the effect that they were being held under advisement pending a decision as to their legality by Attorney General Carson.

Under the circumstances the court declined to go on with the case, after which Secretary McAfee formally rejected the papers on the ground that there was no such district as that in which the papers purport to nominate Goyne. The next move of Goyne's attorneys will be to make application for a mandamus to compel Secretary McAfee to accept and file the certificate.

DO NOT FAVOR LESLIE SHAW.

Iowa Republicans Create a Sensation While Holding District Convention.

FORT DODGE, IA., April 26.—A sensation was caused today at the Tenth Iowa Republican district convention by the committee on resolutions refusing to commend President Roosevelt for selecting Leslie M. Shaw as secretary of the treasury. The vote in the committee was 9 to 5.

The committee nominated by acclamation Congressman J. P. Conner. Resolutions were adopted which indorse the Roosevelt administration, Gov. Cummins, and Senators Allison and Dolliver, and declare strongly for tariff revision and the election of United States senators by a direct vote of the people.

Dear Sir:

"Ever since I was in the army, I had more or less kidney trouble, and within the past year it became so severe and complicated that I suffered everything and was much alarmed—my strength and power was fast leaving me. I saw an advertisement of Swamp-Root and wrote asking for advice. I began the use of the medicine and noted a decided improvement after taking Swamp-Root only a short time.

I continued its use and am thankful to say that I am entirely cured and strong. In order to be very sure about this, I had a doctor examine some of my water today and he pronounced it all right and in splendid condition.

I know that your Swamp-Root is purely vegetable and does not contain any harmful drugs. Thanking you for my complete recovery and recommending Swamp-Root to all sufferers, I am,"

THE MARATHON MYSTERY

By BURTON E. STEVENSON,

Author of "The Holladay Case," "Cadets of Gascony," Etc.

Copyright, 1904, by Henry Holt & Co.

"Well, let's pass over it for a moment? What's the second point? Is it another staggerer?"

"Not a staggerer—but another twist to the puzzle, I imagine. Did Thompson have any jewelry on him?"

"Jewelry? Not a bit. He was practically in rags."

"Where was his body lying?"

"Right here," and he indicated the spot with his foot.

"And right there," I said, "two days later I found this, pressed into the carpet," and I took the little paper packet from my pocketbook.

He opened it carefully and looked at what lay inside. Then he whistled softly.

"A diamond, by all that's wonderful!"

"Tell me what it came out of," I said.

"One of a group, I should say; or perhaps a border around a larger central stone."

"Precisely," I nodded. "And last night I happened to notice that Mrs. Tremaine wore a pin with just such an arrangement of stones. One of the small diamonds in the border was missing."

Godfrey wrapped up the tiny bit of crystal and handed it back to me with an exceedingly thoughtful face.

"That's a mighty pretty bit of evidence," he said, at last; "though, of course, it may be only a coincidence. Taken by itself, it isn't worth a cent; in connection with other evidence, it would be worth a great deal."

"And there isn't any other?"

"Just one little bit. Well, among Thompson's clothes I found a peculiar nut, called a snake nut, which grows only in the West Indies. When you add to this that Thompson's clothing was all such as is worn in the tropics, the presumption is pretty strong that he lived for a while somewhere in Tremaine's neighborhood."

I nodded; then my face fell.

"After all," I pointed out, "all that amounts to nothing. Both Tremaine and his wife can prove an alibi. They weren't in the building when the crime was committed. You yourself saw them coming back."

"Yes—but it's a significant fact that no one saw them go out."

"Oh, well," I said, with a sudden revulsion of feeling, "that doesn't prove anything, either. We mustn't let our suspicions carry us away, Godfrey. If you knew the Tremaines, you'd see how ridiculous it is to suspect them—on no better evidence than this, anyway."

"I don't suspect them," corrected Godfrey, smiling. "I'm simply seeking the truth. If the Tremaines are innocent, as they very probably are, it will do them no harm for us to investigate them a little."

"No," I agreed, "of course not."

"And that's just what I want you to do. You're here on the inside. Keep your eyes and ears open. In the meantime, I'll set our newspaper machinery at work to look up Tremaine's career. Maybe, in that way, we'll get enough foundation to start a theory on."

"And the diamond?"

"The diamond may not have come from the pin, at all. It's no uncommon thing to lose a stone like that. Or if it did, she may have dropped it here at some other time—perhaps she was in here the next day to have a look at the body."

"I doubt that," I objected. "She's not a woman who'd have a curiosity for that sort of thing."

"Well, we'll puzzle it out in time. If I only had a chance to study Tremaine, to hear him talk, to watch him without being seen. That would be worth more to me than all this theorizing. Then I'd have my feet on solid ground; I could—sh!—who's that?"

A door opened and a step crossed the hall. There came a tap at my door.

Godfrey shot me one electric glance; then, lightly as a panther, he seized coat and hat and disappeared into the bedroom, leaving the door slightly ajar.

CHAPTER V.

A Flash from the Depths.

"I have come to thank you for your kindness of last night," said Tremaine, as he entered. "It was a great favor."

"It was nothing," I protested, waving him to a chair. "I was glad to do it. I had a very pleasant time myself."

As he sat down, he laid a handful of cigarettes on the table beside him.

"You see I've come for a chat," he said, with his inimitable smile. "I hope you will help yourself."

"Thank you," and I suited the action to the word; Tremaine's cigarettes would have tempted anyone. "I trust the business of the railroad is getting on well?"

"Splendidly!" he answered, inhaling a great puff of smoke. "The interview of last night did much to assist it. It was for that also I wished to thank you—for leaving me free—it was most important."

I waved my cigarette deprecatingly. I was conscious that he was watching me keenly.

"I am not interrupting any plans of your?" he asked suddenly. "You were not going out? You're not expecting visitors?"

"No," I said. "I'd resigned myself to spend the evening over a book. Your company is very welcome."

"That is good of you to say. I shall speak frankly, then, as I had intended doing."

He paused and puffed at his cigarette. I saw that, in spite of his superb assurance, the subject, whatever it was, presented a certain difficulty.

"I have been curious to see," he began, at last, "how Cecily would affect New Yorkers. She is certainly well stared at."

"And no wonder!" I said. "She would make St. Anthony turn his head."

"You realy weren't bored last night?"

"I don't see how anybody could be bored with Cecily," I answered with conviction.

"Ah, you think so?" and he shot me a quick glance. "You admire her, then?"

"Admiration is hardly the word," I said slowly. "It is too weak, too thin——"

Evidently he misunderstood me, for he did not wait for me to finish—to explain myself.

"That makes it easier for me," he interrupted. "You have perhaps suspected that the union between us is not a—ah—a legal one?"

"Yes," I said, "I had suspected that."

"Such unions are the rule in Martinique," he continued calmly, "and have been from time immemorial. They are a part of the life there—they are a matter of course—and frequently they are as permanent and happy as a fille-de-couleur; physically, I believe, the most beautiful women in the world."

"Then she is not an exception?"

MRS. JANE DOWIE SEES HER HUSBAND AT CHICAGO

Wife of the Deposed Leader of Zion City Makes a Brief Call at His Apartment in Windy City.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, April 26.—Overseer Jane Dowie, wife of the deposed head of the Christian Catholic church, today visited her husband at the Auditorium Annex. This is the first time Dowie and wife have seen each other in several months. When General Overseer Wilbur Glenn Voliva assumed control at Zion City, Mrs. Dowie cast her lot with the new administration, and since then has repudiated her husband publicly several times.

Mrs. Dowie was accompanied by her son, Gladstone Dowie, but the latter did not enter the room occupied by his father. Mrs. Dowie remained in her husband's apartments for half an hour, after which she and her son returned to Zion City.

Those faithful to Dowie assert Mrs. Dowie called to arrange for Dowie's proposed return to Zion City next Saturday. Emil C. Wetten, Dowie's legal adviser, declined to disclose the purpose of Mrs. Dowie's visit, but said Dowie is in better health today than at any time since his return to Chicago two weeks ago.

NEW RAILROAD FOLLOWS RECEIVER'S SETTLEMENT

Satisfaction of Northern Construction and Improvement Co.'s Claims Insures Building of New York, Pennsylvania and Southwestern.

A settlement was made yesterday in the United States court with the receiver of the Northern Construction and Improvement Company, which insures the building of another $20,000,000 railroad to connect Williamsport, Pa., and Binghampton, N. Y. Attorneys Ivory, Kiskaddon & Moore filed a petition with Judge Buffington asking leave, on behalf of Receiver W. L. McKay of the Northern Construction and Improvement Company, to accept settlement of $188,000 in cash and bonds and stock of the New York, Pennsylvania & Southwestern Railroad Company for work done, and for all liability under a contract made by the railroad with the construction company. This was granted by the court.

The construction company had taken a contract to build this railroad from Binghampton to Williamsport for $9,000,000, of which $4,500,000 was to be in bonds and a like amount in stock and cash. The construction company began the work, and after building a portion of the road went into the hands of a receiver on application of H. H. Wolff and other creditors. Attorneys Ivory, Kiskaddon and Moore representing about $150,000 in credits. This settlement relieves the railroad under the $9,000,000 contract. A reorganization followed, and a new contract has been let to another company, who will complete the road at once.

COURT ANNULS MARRIAGE

Aged Property Owner of Fayette County Learns Young Woman Has Husband in Ohio.

UNIONTOWN, PA., April 26.—(Special.)—In court here today the marriage of Joseph Ross, an aged citizen of Fayette county, and Elizabeth Ross, alias Elizabeth Beckwith, was declared void.

The evidence developed that the woman was the wife of Robert Beckwith of Ohio, from whom she had never secured a divorce. Ross has valuable property. The woman is about 29 years of age.

Big Guns for Sewickley.

Four siege guns shipped from Boston arrived at Sewickley yesterday and were escorted to the Sewickley cemetery by 700 school children waving flags, 300 G. A. R. and Spanish War Veterans, and a military band. The guns will be unveiled on Memorial day, Judge John T. Goodrich of Fredericksburg, Va., being the orator.

CHICAGO TRACTION LINES ASK FOR REHEARING

Petition Is Filed in the Supreme Court, With Voluminous Reasons Therefor.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, April 26.—A petition for rehearing in the Chicago traction cases was filed today in the supreme court of the United States in behalf of the street car companies. Eleven reasons are given for the seeking an opportunity of again presenting the case. It is contended that the court in arriving at its construction of the act of 1865 has "overlooked the grammatical impossibility of assigning different subjects to the verbs "deemed" and "held" and "continue," said verbs being coordinate in position in the sentence and each qualified by the adverbial phrases "in force" and "during the life thereof."

Another criticism is that the court has erroneously assumed that the power of the common council to establish time limitations of street occupancy involves not merely the power to limit the duration of its own contracts, but also the power to exclude the exercise by the general assembly of Illinois of the plenary authority conferred upon it by the constitution of the state.

CHARM THAT WAS LOST 30 YEARS AGO RETURNS

UNIONTOWN, PA., April 26.—(Special.)—A Masonic watch charm, after being lost for nearly 29 years, will now be restored to its owner D. L. Evans of Uniontown. In December, 1877, Mr. Evans lost the charm in Baltimore and never heard of it again until this week when William Isaacs, grand secretary of the grand lodge of Maryland, wrote him a charm had been found in a pawn broker's shop and asking him if it was his.

FIND GIRL STUDENTS LASHED FAST TO POLES

Class Fight Brings Out Knives and Coeds Are Subjected to Unusual Treatment.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

RAVENNA, O., April 26.—Class rivalry at the Ravenna high school over the raising of flags led to a fight last night in which several students were slashed with a knife and today three girl students were found tied to telephone poles. Serious trouble is promised.

Members of the junior class met last night at the home of W. J. Weaver and made a flag, but were surprised by the seniors who broke in and got the flag. Fist fights ensued and when an attempt was made to tie Leroy Baldwin with a rope he whipped out a knife and cut four of his assailants, it is said, before they desisted. Frank Beatty, bearing knife wounds, appeared this morning before Mayor Loomis and wanted to have a warrant issued for Baldwin's arrest, but the mayor refused to interfere.

Miss Ida Reece, Miss Lucile Weaver and Miss Bessie Brigham were found in different parts of town today tied fast to a telephone pole. The junior flag floated for a short time over the school today. Bitter feeling has been engendered.

WILL ORGANIZE COMPANY TO MANUFACTURE COKE

UNIONTOWN, PA., April 26.—(Special.)—W. A. Stone has bought 150 acres of coal near Smock, from the Pittsburgh Coal Company for $1,300 an acre. He has also purchased the plant of the O'Connell Coal and Coke Company, near Smock for $70,000, and will increase the plant from 35 to 150 ovens. A new company will be organized with a capital stock of $200,000, and among those interested are W. A. Stone, L. H. Frasher, W. E. Crow and Dr. W. H. Hopwood of Uniontown.

Close Big Coal Deal.

SOMERSET, PA., April 26.—(Special.)—Capt. Charles J. Harrison and Milton J. Pritts of the Somerset County National bank, sold today 1,500 acres of "A" and "B" vein coal to the Penwood Coal Company, a $150,000 corporation composed mainly of New York capitalists.

FRANKLIN STATUE IS TO BE UNVEILED TODAY

Memorial to First Ambassador to France Erected on a Street Named in His Honor.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PARIS, April 26.—The statue of Benjamin Franklin, to be unveiled tomorrow, is appropriately erected in close proximity to the scenes of his activity during the eventful eight years he spent in France. It stands on the Place du Trocadero, near the point where the Rue Franklin, named in his honor, leads towards the heights of Passy. All about are reminders of Franklin's sojourn in Passy—here the Place Franklin, further on the Passage Franklin, and on the busy thoroughfare of Passy the antiquated Hotel Franklin.

It was on the Rue Franklin that the villa stood, surrounded by ample gardens, which became so well known as Franklin's home.

No vestige of the Franklin villa remains today, but it is remembered as a substantial two-story structure, with commodious wings, surrounded by a terraced garden with walks shaded by double rows of linden trees. Here Franklin matured the plans by which France became the ally of the United States, here he erected, according to the traditions of Passy, the original lightning-rod.

Franklin's earliest friendships in Passy were Lavoisier, whose wife was painting Franklin's portrait; the Duc de la Rochefoucauld, Malesherbes and Turgot, who came to talk political economy. It was through Turgot that Franklin met Mme. Helvetius, widow of the celebrated philosopher, thus beginning a deep and sympathetic friendship.

LANDSLIDE DELAYS PASSENGER TRAINS

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., April 26.—(Special.)—There was no traffic from the east this morning on the Fairmont, Morgantown & Pittsburgh branch of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, owing to a landslide at Catawba, near Morgantown, W. Va. The early accommodation from Fairmont, due at 7:50 o'clock, and the Pittsburgh flyer, due from Weston at 10:30, were behind the slide. A train was made up here and run into Pittsburgh in place of the delayed trains. The track was not cleared until late this afternoon.

SUN STROKE

Does Not Come If One's Nervous System Is Well Fed.

"I must tell you how food changed my condition. Seven years ago I had a sunstroke and was confined to bed 19 months.

"I was in bad condition to resist the shock at the time, as my nervous system had been poisoned from chronic constipation. My nerves were shattered by the stroke, kidney trouble followed, and my stomach became so weak that everything I ate, particularly everything containing starch, seemed to turn at once to gas in my stomach, causing palpitation of the heart and sinking spells from pressure on that organ.

"My head was packed in rubber ice-bags constantly for five months to reduce the temperature, which sometimes ran as high as 108. The doctors frankly told my people that they could do nothing for me; to be prepared for my death at any moment.

"While in this condition, helpless and hopeless, a friend one day called my attention to an advertisement of Grape-Nuts food, which he had found in a magazine, and advised me to try it. I did so, and the effect was salutary from the beginning. I found that I could digest Grape-Nuts and cream without distress, and my improvement from the very first week I used it was so encouraging that I persisted, steadily growing better, till at last I was entirely recovered—nerves, heart, stomach, all resumed their normal tone, the poison symptoms entirely disappeared and I gained 35 pounds. This was more than five years ago. I was soon enabled to take up my regular duties. I need not say that I continue to eat Grape-Nuts food, and that it is an important part of each meal to all of us. It has made of my 11-year-old son, who before was a nervous, sickly child, as rosy, robust and healthy a boy as you would care to see, and has relieved my other children from stomach and bowel troubles, from which they formerly suffered." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

GAMES TODAY.

St. Louis at Exposition park, Cincinnati at Chicago, Philadelphia at New York, Brooklyn at Boston.

There was no game at Exposition park yesterday between the Pittsburgh and St. Louis teams on account of rain. The St. Louis club is living up to its reputation as a rainmaker. So far three of the scheduled games between the St. Louis and the Pittsburgh teams have been postponed on account of bad weather, yesterday's game here and two in St. Louis opening week. The schedule makers made allowances for these postponements and provided two open dates. Yesterday's game will be played off here on June 22, another will be played off at St. Louis on June 28 and the third will be doubled up at St. Louis on Sunday July 1.

Arrangements were made yesterday for taking care of the purchasers of reserved grandstand seats for Saturday's game with St. Louis. There will be a sufficient number of ushers to handle the crowd without any delay or confusion. Tickets may be had in advance or at the grounds on the day of the game. The usual grandstand admission tickets will also be on sale.

The Pittsburgh team returned yesterday morning from Chicago where it won two of the three games. The pitching of Phillippe, Leifield and Willis in the series was excellent. Wagner is given credit for a clever play in Wednesday's game, when he out-guessed the Chicago battery in the final inning. Hans was at third and he and Nealon arranged to try the squeeze play. Moran must have caught on to their intention as he signalled for a high pitch. Wagner was on the alert, and instead of going in as was planned he stood stock still. Nealon did not know of the change and bravely attempted to reach the ball, but could not do so. If Wagner had attempted to score he would have found Moran waiting for him at the plate with the ball. As it was he saved his life and managed to score on Leach's rap to Evers.

The Cardinals, who came in yesterday from Cincinnati, where they took three of the four games played, are seeking revenge on the Pirates for the clean sweep at the opening of the series. McCloskey's men are batting well, and according to reports from Porkville, are playing the game.

Brooklyn Wins in the First Inning.

Strong Work by Both Teams.

NEW YORK, April 26.—The New York Giants scored a victory over the Philadelphias today. In the sixth inning McGraw had some words with Umpire Conway, who ordered him off the field. McGraw refused to go and Conway called a policeman to enforce his order, but McGraw went away through an exit under the grand stand. Score:

RESERVED SEATS FOR THE BASEBALL GAMES

Owing to the repeated requests of patrons for reserved seats, the management of the Pittsburgh Baseball club has decided upon the following change of policy:

Every day of the season, tickets for box seats may be obtained at A. G. Pratt & Co.'s, 507 Wood street, until noon. After that hour they will be on sale at the grand stand ticket offices at Exposition park.

For all Saturdays, holidays and other occasions when there is a demand for reserved seats in the grand stand the entire right wing will be reserved. These seats will be sold for $1 each, and can be obtained at Pratt's in advance until noon of the day of the game, and at Exposition park after that hour.

No change has been made in the price of grand stand admission tickets. As usual, these will be sold downtown or at Exposition park for 75 cents each. Only 1,500 of the 4,000 seats will be reserved.

DETROIT, April 26.—Detroit beat Cleveland 3 to 2 in a hard-fought battle. Hess became a little unsteady in the eighth and with McIntyre at first on a base on balls and two out, Cobb hit for three bases, deciding the result. Chech did not win his game from Chicago, but he made a hit and scored a run.

Boston could make only three hits off Stricklett, two singles and a three-bagger.

Washington is tied with Philadelphia for first place in the American league race.

The Phillies could get only three hits off Taylor, one being a home run by Magee.

The Giants increased their lead yesterday by defeating the Phillies, and Pittsburgh being idle.

Charley Pittinger pitched winning ball yesterday against the Giants, but there was no hitting behind him.

COLLEGE AND SCHOOL NEWS

ADA, O., April 26.—(Special.)—The Lima Interstate league team was defeated today by a score of 14 to 7 by the varsity team, Lima opened by scoring three runs in the first inning, Northern tieing them in the last half. In the second inning Lima scored three more runs. When "Sammy" Price came to bat in the last half with one out and two on bases, he hit the sphere for a home run, tieing the score again. This seemed to rather put the Lima boys in the air, and Johnston got in some excellent work in the box. The Northern boys now took the lead, and with Wisely hitting out another home run for Northern the excitement grew until the end of the game, which resulted as above stated. CHRISTIE WINS BIG MOTOR RACE

Pierce Wins in Touring Class, Maxwell, Buick and Reos Also Winners.

SUMMARIES OF RACE MEET

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 26.—Walter Christie and his 110 horse-power Blue Flyer were again the stars at the second day's meeting of the Atlantic City Automobile club, held on the stretch of hard sand on the Ventnor beach. With the 10,000 or so spectators cheering him on, Christie drove the heavy "Freak" past the wire scarcely two feet ahead of the Vanderbilt cup champion, Darracq, with which Guy Vaughn had promised to show the gallery a sensational defeat of every car entered in the three days' meet. The victory was a hard one, although neither car reached its recorded speed, Chrigie's time being 46 2-5 and the other a mere trifle more.

The final meeting of the giants was scheduled as the sensation of the day. The entries included, besides the two winners, the 60-horsepower Thomas, driven by Montague Roberts; the 50-horsepower Thomas, driven by A. S. Robinson, and the Napier car, in which Hilliard has been doing some good racing. In the first heat Roberts' Thomas passed the Napier and the other Thomas. In the second heat Christie managed to lead the Darracq, both making such good time, however, as to push the other competitors out of the race. In the finals Christie held a lead over a length until within a few yards of the wire, and the finish was so close that the Darracq passed Christie on the burst of speed just after the finish gun had been fired.

Mrs. Cuneo a Winner.

The crowd, made smaller than yesterday by the cold wind that swept from the west, and should have assisted the drivers in their unsuccessful reach for records, was again enthused to the cheering point when the intrepid Mrs. Joan Newton Cuneo landed a winning with a little Maxwell runabout in the first class of the day. Another woman driver, Mrs. H. Ernst Rogers, drove another Maxwell car for the second trophy in the same race, much to the delight of the stands.

The Reo Bird, a middle-weight stripped car, outclassed the other competitors in the event for cars of that class, beating Mrs. Cuneo's runabout to the wire by a quarter of a mile in the fine time of 1:00 2-5.

The performance of the tiny car was something of a surprise, and spectators expressed a desire to see the doughty little Bijou go up against some of the big roadsters that are something for honors.

One of the features of the day was the initial run of a 10-horsepower Maxwell, using kerosene instead of gasoline for power. The car made a mile in 1:36, driven by Fleming, and will try for a lower mark tomorrow.

The summaries were:

Event No. 1, record trials, gasolene cars, 881 to 1,452 pounds: First trial—Maxwell 10-horsepower, Charles Fleming; time, 1:39 2-5. Second trial—Maxwell 10-horsepower, Davis; time, 1:36. Castleman, the salary to be $10,000 a year for a term of years. Gen. Castleman has not yet said whether or not he will accept. The Evening Post in announcing the offer, says: "Gen. Castleman's selection is due to August Belmont of New York. Mr. Belmont has been urged to aid the Douglas track through his position in the eastern racing world and he finally stated that he would do so, provided some man of high character and unquestioned standing among the breeders of blooded horses be given the direction of the new enterprise. Thirty years ago I made my first public appearance at the Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia. I was a stranger then. People took away specimens of my writing as curiosities. Today everybody knows me and these specimens fill the mail cars.

Every one of my thirty years has been a year of progress—both in quality and sales. The year 1906 is emphasizing my supremacy—my sales for the first quarter breaking all existing records.

Today I am the oldest and still the newest. Not that I was first am I best, but that I am best am I first. I am the product of the second generation of Remington artisanship. My New Models represent the experience of the old combined with the progressiveness of the new. In my present form I embody all the qualities which have made me famous — plus improvements so fundamental as to create a new standard of typewriter work.

SIMPLE but most artistic floral decorations added their charm to the wedding of Miss Janet C. Walker and Dr. Edward Rollin Gregg which was solemnized last evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Walker of Western avenue, Allegheny. The Rev. Dr. William Patton Stevenson, pastor of the Park Presbyterian church of Yonkers, N. Y., officiated at 8:30 o'clock, in the presence of only the immediate relatives. The bridal party stood in the library before the fireplace, which was screened with ferns. A directoire gown of white satin, with yoke and sleeves of lace, was worn by the bride, who was given away by her father. Falling the full length was a veil of lace caught to the hair with orange blossoms. Lilies of the valley and sweet peas formed the bridal bouquet. Miss Florence Walker, who was her sister's maid of honor, wore a gown of pink embroidered chiffon and carried pink roses. Miss Mary Elizabeth Walker, a cousin, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Walker of "Muottas," Shields, and Miss Glyde Wells of Bryn Mawr, the winsome little flower girls, wore white slips and carried leghorn hats tied with pink ribbons and filled with pink sweet peas. The party was completed by Dr. William Wightman Blair, who served as Dr. Gregg's best man. Following the ceremony was a large reception at 9 o'clock. Mrs. Walker, who assisted the young couple in receiving, was gowned in white crepe de chine embroidered in silver, while Mrs. H. E. W. Gregg was in all white.

THE GAZETTE PATTERN.

(No. 5532.) Ladies' Blouse.

This attractive design for a shirt waist was developed in brown taffeta, the open neck disclosing a dainty chemisette and high standing collar of tucked white lawn. An odd and pleasing effect is given by the narrow circular collars that are arranged over the shoulders and across the back. They may be omitted, however, if desired. The front is closed by small bronze buttons and loops of brown silk chord. The sleeves are in the latest style, the lower part fitting the arm closely. The design is suitable for mohair, pongee, French flannel, linen and madras. The medium size will require 2⅝ yards of 36-inch material. Ladies' blouse, No. 5532. Sizes for 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42-inch bust measure.

Interesting Indian Ceremonials.

The story of the Blackfeet Indians and many of their customs and ceremonials as told by one who resided among them for many months and was finally adopted into the tribe, delighted those who listened to Walter McClintock's lecture yesterday afternoon. It was given in the Belasco theater under the auspices of the Woman's Guild of the Church of the Ascension, and for the benefit of the new parish house. The parquet and the first balcony were well filled. Especially interesting was Mr. McClintock's rendition of the weird Indian songs and cries which appealed most heartily to the children, who also became excited over the description of the games of the little Indian children and the songs they sang while playing. The lecture entitled "In the Camp of the Blackfeet Indians" was profusely illustrated with fine stereopticon views from photographs taken by Mr. McClintock during his residence among the Indians. He is one of the very few white men who have been initiated into the tribal ceremonies, and through his study of the Blackfeet Indians he has preserved by the camera and the graphophone many records of their customs which otherwise would be lost, as the younger generation is not preserving them in their original forms. A feature of the discourse was the disclosure of the fact that the Indian religious rites, though in measure restricted to legends and idol worship, have sterling underlying qualities of equity, right, justice and morality.

The boxes yesterday afternoon were all occupied. Mrs. William B. Rodgers entertained a party of boys who were chaperoned by Mrs. John L. Shaw as Mrs. Rodgers could not be present. The boys included John Lazear, Gordon King, Charles Steele, Albert Steele, Butler Burgwin, Henry Bailey, William Bray, Sidney Hammond, Charles Rook and William Rodgers. Mrs. Charles Rook had with her a little party of girls including Miss Euphemia Bargeley, Miss Agnes Rodgers, Miss Florence Rook and Miss McCrea. Mrs. William L. Abbot occupied another box with her little daughter and Mrs. Harvey Childs, Jr., and her children formed another box party.

May Dance on College Campus.

If the weather be fair the students of the Pennsylvania College for Women will hold one of the prettiest of May dances on the college campus on Saturday afternoon, May 19. There will be three May poles erected on the green below the college, near the Laughlin conservatories. Forty students representing all of the classes in the college, will take part in the exercises. There will be the long march from the college hall, down the shady driveway to the green, the dance about the May poles, the choosing of the May queen and her coronation, and the girls will give a couple of fancy dances also. All the students will be dressed in white and will carry flowers. The dances and drills are being prepared under the direction of Miss Myrtle McAteer, the physical director at the college, while Miss Sylvia Fillcock, the new instructor of vocal music, will have charge of the singing.

Reception for Visiting Women.

The Winoduasis club is making extensive preparations for the entertainment of the visiting women, wives, daughters and sisters of the Pennsylvania Knights Templar who will hold their annual conclave in Pittsburgh the week of May 20. The club will give a large reception Wednesday afternoon, May 23, in the Hotel Annex, the parlors on the second floor having been placed at the disposal of the club women for that occasion. The rooms will be handsomely decorated and the reception hours will be from 1 o'clock until 6. The receiving party will include the present officers and all the past presidents of the Winoduasis club. This will be the only large affair the club will give for the visiting women.

How Ingram Is Beautified.

At a meeting of the Ingram Civic league last night it was decided to give at least six awards this year for the best kept lawns in the borough, for the best collection of flowers and shrubbery and for the greatest improvement in home surroundings. Similar awards were made by the league and were the means of great improvement throughout the borough. It is intended to take into consideration the little lot as well as the large one in the competition, so that the smaller one will stand the same chance to get a prize as his neighbor's 100-foot front. It was noticed last year that the competition had a stimulating effect on the whole town.

Century Club Elects Officers.

The Duquesne Century club met last evening in the home of the Rev. W. Ira Guss. The annual election of officers was held, the following being elected for the coming year: President, Dr. W. G. Mead; first vice president, C. E. Wright; second vice president, the Rev. W. I. Guss; secretary and treasurer, H. E. Winner. Dr. W. G. Mead read a paper on "The Moors," and current events were discussed by Mr. Winner. At the next meeting in a fortnight the Rev. Mr. Guss will present a paper on "The Annual Theory."

Present the Cardinal King.

Henry Lawrence Southwick of the Emerson College of Oratory in Boston, will lecture in the Pennsylvania College for Women on Tuesday evening, May 15. Mr. Southwick will also give a number of readings from various English classics.

Professional Women Tell Ghost Stories.

The Professional Women's club had a social meeting last evening in the Alinda school, Fifth avenue, Bellefield. After an informal program ghost stories were told, the meeting concluding with the serving of refreshments.

Suburban Cantatas.

The cantata "Belshazzar" was given by 75 valley singers in the Sewickley auditorium last evening under the direction of John A. Rosenstiel. The performance was in charge of the women of the Methodist Episcopal church, the proceeds to be used for church repairs. The soloists were W. J. Fox, Mrs. J. Sharp McDonald, Mrs. Edith Taylor Thompson, M. M. Luty, David Ormsber, Mrs. C. F. Stoltzenbach, W. C. Nevin, Miss Mabel Shaw, Miss Anna Jones, Mrs. A. C. Tyacher and Miss Margaret Ritchey. Prof. F. A. Albrecht was accompanist, E. W. Hutchinson stage manager and C. A. Hays had charge of the light effects. The production will be repeated this evening. A large audience in Masonic hall, Bellevue, last evening greeted the first presentation of the cantata "Joseph," under the auspices of the Bellevue Hospital club. The proceeds are for the benefit of the Suburban general hospital. The production will be repeated tonight.

Gentler Sex as Ushers.

For the novel lecture, "From Fan to Wagner," to be delivered by Silas G. Pratt for the benefit of the San Francisco sufferers at the Hotel Schenley tomorrow evening, Misses Mabel Bochert, Kathleen Duncan, Eva Kates, Jeannette Nicholson, Lucille Smith and Ida B. Shell and Mrs. C. T. Martin will act as ushers. William C. Hamilton, H. Kleber and C. C. Mellor are the committee under whose auspices the lecture is given, and a list of distinguished patrons is being secured.

Successful Benefit Recital.

A successful musical recital was given last evening by Luigo von Kunits, violinist, and Severin C. Frank for the benefit of the First Unitarian church, Ellsworth and Morewood avenues. The members of the committee in charge of the affair were Mrs. David B. Mitchell, Mrs. Wesley Gould Carr, Mrs. Harry Clyde Boggs, Miss A. C. Damon, Mrs. Farley, Mrs. A. M. Holmes, Mrs. L. F. Howard, Miss Irene Follett and Mrs. Oscar A. Rogers.

Trading Was Active, and at One Time the Market Was Very Weak—Local Market Dull, but the Tone Was a Little Firmer.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

Liquidation continued on a large scale on the New York stock market yesterday and at times the tone was decidedly weak. There was also considerable increase in the volume of business, the sales for the day footing up 1,370,300 shares.

While it was generally admitted that the liquidation in progress was genuine, it was nevertheless true that professional Wall street is extremely bearish just now and whenever it is discovered that long stock is coming out the bears do not hesitate to hammer prices. It was thought to be bearish operations that caused the break shortly after the opening, resulting in losses of from 1 to 3 per cent, and for a time produced something approaching demoralization. There was a good recovery from the low prices of the morning, but on the rise liquidation was resumed and closing prices showed much irregularity.

Consolidated Gas made a new low record on this movement, but after the announcement that the directors had cut the dividend in two, declaring 1 per cent for the quarter, as against 2 per cent for the preceding quarter, the stock rallied sharply and closed at a net gain of ½ per cent.

Amalgamated Copper, which was quoted ex-dividend of 1¾ per cent, was another weak stock, selling off from 106⅞ to 105⅞ and closing at 105, a net loss, taking into account the dividend, of 1⅝ per cent. Anaconda Copper closed unchanged and Smelting only ¼ per cent lower.

The Steel stocks shared in the early weakness, but the common displayed more resistance than the preferred, finally closing ⅛ higher, while the preferred closed ⅝ lower. Colorado Fuel and Iron continued weak and closed 2¼ per cent lower than on Wednesday. The minor iron and steel stocks also closed lower.

The largest net declines as a rule were in the high-grade railroad stocks, such as figure among the investment securities of fire insurance companies, which gave color to reports that these companies were liquidating in preference to paying 5½ to 6 per cent for bank loans, to meet the necessities growing out of the San Francisco fire. Great Northern preferred closed 3¼ off, Northwestern 3, Northern Pacific 2½ and New York Central ½ per cent. Canadian Pacific closed 2⅝ lower, and it was inferred that some of the selling might be for account of foreign fire insurance companies.

The Pennsylvania group was irregular, being affected by reports as to the status of the miners' strike situation. At one time it looked very much as if a crisis had been reached in the negotiations between the operators and the miners. Reading held better than the others and closed ⅝ higher. Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio each closed ⅝ lower.

Call loans ranged between 3½ and 5 per cent, the ruling rate being about 4 per cent. Time loans continued firm. The day's transfers through the New York sub-treasury to San Francisco reached nearly $3,000,000, making the total transferred from New York alone through this source $14,000,000 since last Wednesday, the day of the earthquake. In addition to this there have been large shipments by banks direct, and Chicago is estimated to have sent at least $5,000,000. The total transfers and shipments through all sources since the 18th inst. is estimated at something in excess of $30,000,000. There was returned to the treasury yesterday $4,000,000 government deposits on account of the import of gold, making a total of such returns of $6,100,000. It is remarkable that with these extraordinary and wholly unexpected drafts upon New York the money market has been so free from disturbance.

Peculiar interest was felt in the weekly statements of the three great foreign banks, which were made yesterday. The Bank of England made a weak showing, loans increasing nearly $26,000,000 and reserve decreasing more than $2,600,000. The percentage of reserve to liability is now 39.82, compared with 43.71 last week and 50.79 last year. The Bank of France reported an increase of $8,000,000 gold and an increase of $22,365,000 in loans. These two statements were no doubt affected by the Russian loan flotation, which was reported to have been a moderate success in London and twice subscribed in Paris. The Imperial Bank of Germany, which is not taking any direct interest in the Russian loan, made a strong showing, cash increasing nearly $18,500,000 and loans decreasing more than $13,000,000.

The local stock market remained dull for the regular list, but presented a somewhat better tone. Mining shares were moderately active and irregular. Cable Consolidated sold at the uniform price of 70c. Ohio Tonopah was active and weak, declining to and closing at 23c. Tonopah Extension sold at 11⅜ to 11¾. In the curb market Black Hills was unusually active, large blocks changing hands at 32c. Pittsburgh Oil and Gas scored the largest gain in the industrial list, advancing to and closing at 35½ bid, a gain of 3½ per cent. Manufacturers Light and Heat was active and advanced a small fraction to 30¼. Crucible Steel common was unchanged at 14, while the preferred ranged between 79⅜ and 79⅝. Harbison-Walker common rallied 1 per cent to 12. National Fire Proofing preferred declined to 25½. Pittsburgh Coal preferred was also weak, selling off to 55½. The remainder of the list was dull and without important change.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The rally which occurred in the stock market just before the close was based upon the announcement of the engagement of a large amount of gold in Paris. The money market at the latter center was easier, following the release of funds used in the Russian loan subscription. France was awarded $224,000,000 of the Russian loan, and Paris dispatches stated that it was twice over-subscribed. The Paris market was therefore more disposed to part with gold. Up to the time of the announcement of the gold engagements the stock market was extremely feverish, with support lacking. A New York dispatch to The Gazette said: "Selling was clearly in evidence for direct account of some of the insurance companies. Stock certificates in the names of these companies were delivered at the stock exchange and the selling of these was on orders from some of the principal banking houses. This gave rise to natural conjecture as to whether the insurance companies were simply employing the banking houses in a brokerage capacity to effect the sales of securities out of their treasury holdings, or whether they had figured as collateral for loans by the bankers who were liquidating the collateral owing to the shrinkage in values and the wiping out of margins. The sentimental effect of this selling was bad in any event and had a decidedly depressing effect on speculative sentiment throughout the street. The shrinkage in values also brought out large sales for account of some of the great commission houses and this was attributed to the letting go of some heavy speculative accounts. Selling of this character from western sources was particularly marked and had the appearance of being forced, presumably owing to the wiping out of margins. Earnest assurances have been heard for some time from some prominent speculative sources that the Wall street commission houses had become practically bare of stocks. This was evidently meant to imply that speculative accounts on the long side had been greatly reduced and that investment buying of a more substantial character had been taking stocks out of the market. The amount of long stock which came out today in speculative liquidation was a surprise and thoroughly discredited these recent assurances.

The New York bond market was reported to be relatively weaker than stocks, although this was not apparent in the exchange transactions. The only active issues were Pennsylvania 3½s of 1915, the Japanese issues and Consolidated Gas convertible 6s. The latter advanced from 137 to 138½. Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal seconds declined to 35½. Outside the exchange, however, the offerings of high-grade bonds are said to be large, and they can only be marketed at large concessions from recent quotations. This is only natural, and is ascribed to the necessities of the fire insurance companies.

The earnings of the United States Steel Corporation for the March quarter, before charging off for new construction and improvement, were equivalent to 12½ per cent per annum on the common stock.

At auction for account of whom it may concern, John D. Bailey sold on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday three $1,000 refunding mortgage bonds of the Meadville & Cambridge Springs Street Railway at 25 per bond; seven $500 bonds of the same company at $25 each; 45 shares Myers & Shinkle Company stock at $45 a share, and 100 shares Mt. Royal Cemetery stock at $10 a share.

Pittsburgh Oil and Gas rallied 3½ per cent on light sales and closed at 35½ bid. The street is inclined to believe that some deal is pending in the stock, with the view possibly to a change of control, but particulars are not forthcoming.

A dispatch was printed in Wall street yesterday purporting to come from E. H. Harriman in San Francisco, denying the Pittsburgh interview, in which he was quoted as saying that speculators had taken advantage of the San Francisco calamity to hammer the price of stocks. What Fourth avenue read this denial, which was sent out over the ticker, it marveled that the busy wires between San Francisco and Wall street should have been used to make the alleged denial. Whether Mr. Harriman was correctly quoted in every word and syllable or not is immaterial, for everyone knows that professional speculators in Wall street try to make a profit out of every calamity, from the assassination of a president to the loss of a Kansas cornfield from hot winds.

The New Jersey state board of equalization has dismissed all appeals from the action of local tax assessors in assessing shares of national bank stocks at full value.

The Federal National bank of Pittsburgh yesterday received an additional $85,000 United States government deposits, making the total of such deposits $300,000.

The Manufacturers bank has declared the usual semi-annual dividend of 6 per cent, payable May 1.

The statement of earnings of the Hudson River Electric Power Company for the month of March, 1906, as published by H. H. Gay & Co., are $71,612.96, while the earnings for the same month of 1905 were only $48,171.48.

In the local curb market $1.75 was bid for 10,000 shares Denver Bullfrog, and 5,000 shares Big Four Mining were offered at 46c.

Gross earnings of Southern Railway for the third week in April increased $84,595.

Net earnings of Ontario & Western for March were $183,264, against $155,196 last year.

The gross earnings of Louisville & Nashville for the third week in April increased $65,300.

Chicago dispatch: A remarkable decrease in deposits has been experienced by the banks of Chicago since the last bank call. The reports made in response to the recent call revealed conditions of the national banks at the close of business April 6 and of the state banks at the commencement of business April 7. Yesterday one of the larger state banks reported a loss in deposits during the intervening two and one-half weeks of $4,000,000. In proportion to total deposits held this loss is perhaps a little larger than the average, although a loss of $3,000,000 was reported by one large national bank, while another national bank reported its deposits have fallen off over $1,000,000.

The gross earnings of Atchison for March increased $236,034 and net increased $388,244.

Gross earnings of Chicago Great Western for the third week in April increased $14,831.

Engagement was made during the day of $4,000,000 gold for import, most of which was secured in Paris. The decidedly weak return of the Bank of England explained the unwillingness of the London market to part with gold.

Reports of a large loan intended by the Pennsylvania Company was an adverse factor not only on that stock but on the whole market.

At a special meeting of the United Copper stockholders yesterday it was reported that the company owns securities having a market value of $20,000,000.

NEW HIGH FIGURE FOR WOOD STREET

John Walker Pays $300,000, or $15,000 a Foot, for Fitzsimons Lot at 513.

TRANSACTIONS ON NORTH SIDE

All records for big prices for Wood street property were smashed yesterday by the sale of the J. A. Fitzsimons lot at 513 Wood street for $300,000, or $15,000 a front foot. The buyer is John Walker, and it is said the deal carries with it a considerable significance, although the plans of the new owner are not announced. This is the property, 20x80 feet, which the firm of H. Kieber & Bro., dealers in musical instruments, recently rented for a term of years. Three stories have just been added to the old building, and the entire structure modernized, so that it is one of the best store buildings in that neighborhood. The property is at the east end of the First National bank holdings and at the price paid figures at the rate of $187 50 a square foot. One month ago Mr. Fitzsimons bought the S. Jarvis Adams lot at 519 Wood street for $200,000, or $10,526 a front foot. A few weeks before Willis F. McCook sold his property at 518 Wood street for $80,600, or $8,571 a front foot. Both these latter prices were regarded as top notch figures when the deals were made and netted the owners profits of 164 and 140 per cent respectively on a four years' ownership. At $15,000 a front foot, Wood street property begins to look "mighty good," as a broker said yesterday, and it is fulfilling the predictions that have been made frequently for a number of years that Wood street, between Fifth and Liberty avenues, would soon be worth as much as the best squares of Fifth avenue. It is interesting to note that the gains in Wood street values as actually shown by recent sales are ahead of the gains in Fifth avenue prices compared with those paid a few years ago.

Two Good Allegheny Sales.

S. M. Willock of the Waverly Oil Company has sold his residence at 414 West North avenue, Allegheny, for $25,000. The homestead is one of the old-style residences in that street, the big four-story brick house having been erected over 30 years ago. Mr. Willock has occupied it as a home for more than 20 years. The house is one of the old-style residences, with solid brick walls, and contains 11 large rooms and two bath rooms. It stands on 24x170 feet, just east of Resaca place and running back to Ellsworth street. Formerly the place was known as the old Cawley homestead. A few weeks ago Mr. Willock bought the Benham residence at 374 South Negley avenue for $25,000, and will occupy it shortly. The buyer of the Allegheny house is said to be a business man who will make it his home.

W. L. Scott and C. L. Saxton of W. L. Scott & Co. have bought the Mary G. Morris property at 20 and 22 East Robinson street, between Federal and Sandusky streets, Fourth ward, Allegheny, for $24,000. This figures to the rate of only $545 a front foot, which is cheap when compared with the asking price for most properties in that square. The lot measures 44x110 feet on the north side of the street and runs back to an alley, giving it special advantages for a warehouse site. The two three-story brick houses on the lot are rented for $118 a month. Since making their purchase the buyers have been offered a profit of $6,000 on their deal.

Lawyers' Realty Buys Out Penn Avenue.

The Real Estate Corporation by its agent, John B. Fitzgibbon, sold for John C. Zeigler to the Lawyers' Realty Company 1721 Penn avenue, for $22,000, or $880 a front foot. The sale is the first for same time, where most property held from $900 to $1,000 a front foot. The Ziegler lot has a frontage of 25 feet, with a depth of 100 feet to an alley and is improved with a brick store and house in front and a dwelling in the rear. The rental from these is about $1,200 a year.

Rumors of three large down town deals were rife yesterday and at least one of them may be closed today. All of these have developed within a few days, showing that the market for big properties is much more active than is usually supposed. Possibly the hardest real estate transactions that was ever tackled in Pittsburgh has been on the boards for nearly a month steadily and is not yet closed, although a half dozen brokers are persistently working to that end. If any more telling examples were needed to convince lukewarm buyers that there are some rare chances to make money in downtown real estate today, they would be afforded in the last few sales reported in the business center and in the prices that are to be paid for the properties now being sold.

The Germania Savings and Deposit bank has sold to John P. Smith, 48x120 feet, on the north side of Carson street, near South Twentieth street, Twenty-sixth ward, for $10,250. Two substantial brick buildings are on the front of the lot.

J. N. KIDNEY.

Mr. Kidney is head of the firm of J. N. Kidney & Co., which recently moved from Grant street and Fourth avenue to 424 Grant street. He organized the firm last year, taking over the business of the old firm of S. A. Gibson & Co., which had been conducted under the name of the Tri-State Realty Company. The present company makes a specialty of mortgages.

Building Boom in Beaver Falls

Beaver Falls is booked for a house building boom this summer, due chiefly to the rapid development of the manufacturing interests there which will by fall employ at least 500 more men than at present. Last year 165 houses were built in the town. This spring there are nearly 200 houses announced already, but a large proportion of the builders are holding off till May 1 to see if there are to be any strikes. The Keystone Axle Company has put in an auxiliary roll to make its own billets and has a plant worth $500,000, which will employ 125 men by July 1 for the first time in six years. The Keystone Driller Company has finished an addition, 80x100 feet, to its plant at Eighth street and the Marginal railroad, and will employ 150 men. The Penn Bridge Company have now in the mills men by August 1 working at its College Hill plant. These developments are stimulating the building of better business houses in Beaver Falls and several are under way now. John J. Fapp has the foundations in for a three-story store building in Seventh avenue to cost $50,000. D. B. Todds is preparing to double the size of his block at Twelfth street and Seventh avenue at a cost of $20,000, and it is said the building will be used for a hotel. Some idea of the way values are advancing is afforded by the recent sale of the Eggerman property, 43x100 feet, at Sixteenth street and Seventh avenue, for $20,000. College Hill lots that were sold three years ago for $300 are now bringing from $1,000 to $1,500. Business lots have advanced in price from $300 to $600 a front foot within five years and in the same time residence lots have gone up from $40 to $100 a front foot.

Two New Entrances to Park.

The Brighton Heights Company is providing two new entrances to Riverview park through its new Harbison addition. One of these will be by way of Academy lane and the other by Stanford avenue. The only entrance on the west side of the park hitherto has been from Brighton road by way of Davis avenue, a roundabout way, which is more than twice as long as the two new ways mentioned. The city of Allegheny is going to pave Davis avenue, a 50-foot street, but until this is done the avenue will not be used much and the new entrances are to be for this summer the popular driveways to the park, as is shown now by the number of carriages seen on them daily.

Architect Sidney F. Heckert has let the contract to Rose & Fisher for the erection of the St. Mary's Roman Catholic church in Glenfield, which will cost $20,000.

Architect C. M. Barberger is receiving estimates on a brick and stone residence for W. W. Darling, to be built at Shady and Wilkins avenues, Squirrel Hill, at a cost of $40,000.

The Philadelphia Company has changed its plans for the addition to be built to its Sixth avenue boiling house, and will make the building 15 stories high, instead of eight, as originally announced. This building will provide spacious quarters for the United Railways Investment Company, which has assumed control of the Philadelphia Company holdings.

The Pittsburgh board of trade has abandoned the project of erecting a building for its own use in East Liberty because its committee found the sites too costly. The organization now has quarters in Shady avenue, where it will remain for at least a year. A five-story building was contemplated.

The Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, April 26.—The drygoods market today was steady and quiet. Shipments of goods to the Pacific coast were quite large, many readers buyers having already received orders for duplications of all lines destroyed by the fire in San Francisco. Jobbing houses did a fair trade.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

In speaking of the development work being done at the Keystone-Nevada mines in the White Horse district, Washoe county, Nevada, Vice President DeWitt C. Bovee of Pittsburgh says the miners are daily sacking ore from a rich shoot encountered in No. 4 tunnel, which runs $400 a ton in gold, the shoot being 2½ feet wide, and besides this they are taking out a large quantity of free milling ore which will average $20. The indications, he says, are unusually favorable for them to strike a large number of these rich shoots in the course of development, a secondary filling, it is believed, having caused these shoots through the mine.

Inasmuch as the most sensational values in the noted Comstock mine (which lies only 18 miles distant from the Keystone-Nevada property) came from a depth of 800 feet and which is even now, at a depth of more than 2,000 feet, producing good grade ore, it is Mr. Bovee's opinion that, as the veins and formation of the White Horse district are similar to those of Virginia City, the same results will be obtained, for history repeats itself in mines as in other things.

The Sedalia Gold Mining Company, operating at Leadville, at its annual meeting at Denver, decided to lease the property if good parties can be procured. The Sedalia lies between the Fortune and the Resurrection mines. A hoist and all necessary machinery and tools are on the ground, and the shaft is 1,000 feet deep. More than $125,000 was taken out of the upper workings by Capt. Yankee. T. B. Wilgus was elected a director of the Sedalia. Lyman Robinson of Canon City, Col., is president of the company.

The plans to effect a sale of the properties of the American Gold Dredging Company, at Breckenridge, Col., have fallen through.

The Allouez rock has contained over 2 per cent mineral thus far in April, the actual figures for the first 12 days of operations during the month being 40½ pounds the ton.

Sinking is now in progress from the sixth to the seventh levels, and additional depth shows the same character of high-grade rock. Drifting is now in progress both ways at the sixth level, with no change in evidence in the ground that is being opened up.

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, April 26.—There was a slight reaction on the London tin market, which closed at £182 for spot and £178 10s for futures. Locally the market was steady, however, and a shade higher on the spot, with spot quoted at 32@32 50. Copper also was a shade lower in London, closing at £87 5s for spot and £83 5s for futures. Locally no change was reported. Lake is quoted at $18 50@18 75; electrolytic, $18 25@18 50; casting, $18 00@18 25. Lead was unchanged at $5 50@5 60 in the local market, but advanced 2s 6d to £16 2s 6d in London. Spelter was unchanged at £26 12s 6d in London and at $5 45@5 55 locally. Iron was 6d lower in the Eneglish market, with standard foundry quoted at 48s 6d and Cleveland warrants at 48s 10½d. Locally no change was reported. No. 1 foundry northern is quoted at $18 75@19 00; No. 2 foundry northern, $18 25@18 50; No. 1 foundry southern, $18 50; No. 2 foundry southern, $18 00.

LONDON, April 26.—Copper was quiet in the market today. The metal closed at £83 5s. Eight hundred and fifty tons were sold. Tin hardened and closed at £182. Six hundred tons were sold.

BOSTON, April 26.—Liquidation continued heavy today and the rallies were short and feeble. As long as time money stays as high as it is, we cannot see anything to buy the market on at present, and we advise the sale of all kinds of stocks around the present level. Let some one else pay the high interest rates for the next month or so, until the country has recovered from depression which now exists.

CHEESE AGAIN WEAKER; BUTTER AND EGGS FIRM

Few Changes Are Noted in Produce—Strawberries Are Getting More Plentiful.

The markets again showed but little change yesterday. Fruits are stiffer in price. Malaga grapes have about gone out of the market. Apples are dearer, about $3 00 a barrel, but the variety remains good. There were no changes in vegetables except on green beans and cabbage, both of which are stiffer in price. Arrivals of strawberries continue good, and the price remains unchanged. Virginia and the Carolinas are now shipping large quantities of berries north, and this will sooner or later make berries still cheaper.

The bottom seems to have fallen out of the cheese market. Yesterday it again took a drop of a cent to a cent and a half on all cream varieties and the commodity is still weak at these prices.

Eggs remain unchanged. Large arrivals are coming in every day by boat and rail, but the market is still strong at 17 and 18 cents for the best grades. The west is shipping no eggs at all to Pittsburgh, but are packing them away for the coming season.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts bulletined yesterday were: Pennsylvania lines, 15½ cars oats, 6½ cars corn, 8 cars hay, 1 car straw; Baltimore & Ohio railroad, 5 cars hay, 1 car oats; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 4 cars hay.

The demand continues strong and no change is probable in anything. There are many inquiries for rye straw and the price advanced yesterday as a result. High mixed car also shows strength and will advance further in price.

DISREGARD OHIO'S 2-CENT RATE LAW

Local Railroad Fares Are Being Compiled With No Benefit to People of Pittsburgh.

B. & O. PRESIDENT COMING

Two-cent fares in Ohio are not "cutting much ice," as one passenger man said yesterday, in the new Pittsburgh joint rate sheet. This large compilation of passenger fares is now being worked out by rate clerks of the various railroads in this district, in a meeting at the Hotel Schenley. A number of clerks came to the city yesterday and worked all day. Last evening it looked as though all of today and probably a portion of tomorrow would be taken up in this work.

"There are many changes to be made in the Pittsburgh joint rate sheet this spring," said Chief Rate Clerk C. C. Bliss of the Baltimore & Ohio at Chicago, "but aside from the rates to and from Marietta and that territory the new Ohio law does not figure in the new sheet. While the changes are numerous there are none which mean a great deal to public travel."

This matter of the new joint rate sheet not being effected by the 2-cent rate law in Ohio shows that the railroads are abiding by their first word in not placing into effect the Ohio 2-cent rate on tickets for interstate travel. The old rates will obtain, with a total disregard for the Ohio law. Should Pennsylvania have a 2-cent rate law passed, of course the whole Pittsburgh sheet would be changed with the exception of other interstate business than that of Ohio. The only system that has so far made the 2-cent rate apply to interstate business is the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton-Ann Arbor, upon which all business between Detroit and Ohio points is routed at the sum of the local fares; that is, 3 cents in Michigan and 2 cents in Ohio.

In addition to Mr. Bliss there were at the meeting the following: Chief Rate Clerk Kingsbury of the Pennsylvania railroad, Chief Rate Clerk Seidener and Assistant Chief Rate Clerk McFarland of the Pennsylvania lines west, Chief Rate Clerk Vinquist of the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern, and Chief Rate Clerk Coale of the Baltimore & Ohio at Baltimore. Chief Rate Clerks Blatterman of the Wabash at St. Louis, Woodman of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh at Rochester and Strayer of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie are expected today.

Officers Return from Meeting.

Pittsburgh railroad officers who attended the spring meeting of the American Railway association at Chicago Tuesday and Wednesday, returned to Pittsburgh yesterday, with the exception of Vice-President Worthington of the Wabash. Mr. Worthington is spending three days on a business trip over the lines east of Toledo, in speaking of the meeting Robert Pitcairn said:

"I have attended a great many of these meetings but this was the best. The American Railway Guild meeting Tuesday evening was attended by a large number of high railroad officers. At the regular meeting of the association on Wednesday, there was a large representation of the membership, which is composed of roads rather than men. Each road designates the officer who shall represent it on any committee to which the road may be elected. W. C. Brown, vice-president of the New York Central lines, was chosen president, and with splendid support. The Pennsylvania railroad retires from the train rules committee. In October the association will again meet at the Auditorium hotel in Chicago."

In addition to the election of Mr. Brown as president, which was predicted in The Gazette on Tuesday, Vice-President W. H. Carter of the Chicago & Northwestern was elected a vice-president. On the executive committee Vice-President Potter of the Baltimore & Ohio was re-elected, and President Elliott of the Northern Pacific was chosen a new member. General Manager Peck of the Pennsylvania lines west, was chosen chairman of the standard wheel and rail section, which was organized. A bureau was formed to bring about uniform rules for transporting explosives. Mr. Pitcairn remains as warden of the American Railway guild.

Important Traffic Changes.

Joseph H. Brown has been appointed manager of the North and South Despatch with headquarters at Chicago. This is a new line to operate over the Chicago, Indiana & Southern, Big Four and Mobile & Ohio roads. Circulars announcing the appointment were received in Pittsburgh yesterday.

Frank Mooney, formerly identified with the office of Commercial Freight Agent Walters of the Baltimore & Ohio in Pittsburgh, and recently chief clerk of the company's division freight office at Cumberland, has been appointed chief clerk of the local freight traffic offices of the Harriman lines by General Agent Herring. He succeeds W. P. Lawlor, who has taken service with the Furnace Run Lumber Company.

Agent T. L. Painter of the Lehigh Valley received circulars yesterday announcing these changes in the road's traffic department: R. S. Barton, formerly soliciting freight agent at Ithaca, N. Y., to be division freight agent at Newark, N. J.; C. L. Guest, formerly at Newark, to be New England freight agent at Boston and New Haven to succeed H. G. Hamilton, who became division freight agent at Buffalo.

A circular was received in Pittsburgh yesterday that causes wonder among the traffic men. It announced that the office of commercial agent of the New York, New Haven & Hartford at Buffalo, which was occupied by R. N. Smith, has been abolished. No mention is made of Mr. Smith's transfer. He was a guest at the Traffic club banquet last Friday but made no mention of a change coming.

Murray Coming Next Thursday.

In the program for the spring inspection of the Baltimore & Ohio system, the visit of President Murray and other executive officers to Pittsburgh will be next Thursday. The special inspection train passed through Pittsburgh to Chicago last Monday morning. Aside from the Baltimore & Ohio lines west of New Castle, this week and a part of next will be spent in touring the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern. From Pittsburgh the official party will go to Connellsville to spend a day in the Monongahela valley and Connellsville district, proceeding later to the West Virginia lines. This is really the annual inspection of the company's properties. President Murray and other high officers make several trips over the system each year, but more time is spent on the spring inspection than at other times. Railroad officers have been wont to say that it is this keeping in close touch with the Baltimore & Ohio road and its men by President Murray that has made his administration so successful.

Big Sunday for B., R. & P.

The coming Sunday will be a busy passenger traffic day for the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh road into Pittsburgh. The Robert Mantell Theatrical Company will be hauled from Buffalo to Pittsburgh and the Checkers Company will be hauled from Elmira, N. Y., to this city. In addition to this there will be three large excursion trains into Pittsburgh from Mt. Jewett, Clearfield and intermediate points. At least 2,500 persons are expected to come to the city on this floral excursion.

Railroad Notes.

Superintendent Duer and his staff officers of the Pittsburgh division of the Baltimore & Ohio returned last evening from a two-day trip over the lines north of Pittsburgh.

Freight traffic managers of all St. Louis lines will meet at St. Louis tomorrow to again consider switching allowances for industrial tracks on both sides of the river.

Fred A. Barber, chief clerk in the general freight offices of the Wabash at St. Louis, was here yesterday conferring with General Freight Agent Booth and Commercial Agent Bradley regarding traffic matters.

The Union railroad has awarded to the McKelvey-Hine Company a contract for building all concrete arches and about 1,000 feet of retaining wall for the new elevated approach at the south end of the Monongahela river bridge at Port Perry.

The dismissal of switchmen who, the Monongahela Connecting railroad officers aver, did not obey the company's rules, bids fair to cause more trouble among officers of the railroad organizations than on the Monongahela Connecting road. Meanwhile the road is operating unmolested.

City Passenger Agent Raymond B. Jones of the Pennsylvania lines west returned yesterday from a meeting at Chicago, where Col. Moody presided. This meeting was designed to assemble the new and old agents of various districts to acquaint them with the new personnel and duties in the respective districts. Mr. Jones will become traveling passenger agent for Wisconsin. He will leave for his new headquarters at Madison Saturday evening.

HOTEL CAMBRIDGE WILL SOON BE CLOSED

NEW YORK, April 26.—(Special.)—Patrons of the Hotel Cambridge, at Thirty-third street and Fifth avenue, have been notified that breakfast next Saturday will be the last meal served in the hotel. The removal of furniture has already begun, and on Monday the doors will be closed. Whether the building will be renovated and reopened in the autumn as a hotel or transformed into an office building by the new lessees, the Gorham Company, has not been determined.

Spotted Fever Causes Death.

Another death from spotted fever occurred in McKeesport yesterday, making the second in a week. Evelyn, the 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Pickford of Martin street. The child was ill one day.

WINDBER ANSWERS JOHN MITCHELL

THREE PROPOSITIONS MET

The reply sent by Chairman John H. Winder of the bituminous coal operators, to President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers, on the refusal of the proposition to arbitrate the mining differences, was not made public by Mr. Mitchell. The reply was prepared at a meeting of the operators held in Chicago on Saturday, and a copy was received by Pittsburgh operators yesterday morning. The full text of the letter follows:

Chicago, April 21, 1906.

Mr. John Mitchell, Chairman International Executive Board, U. M. W. of A., Indianapolis, Ind.:

Your telegraphic communication of the 20th instant declining to arbitrate the differences existing between the operators and miners of Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois was submitted to a meeting of operators of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois today, and as chairman of such meeting I have been instructed to make the following reply:

The reasons given by you for declining to arbitrate are:

First—That I did not represent the operators of these four states in making the proposition to arbitrate, especially the operators of Western Pennsylvania and the Hocking district of Ohio, giving as your authority a telegram from Francis L. Robbins, dated April 18, reading as follows:

"Mr. Winder had no authority to offer arbitration for Western Pennsylvania, where mines are all in operation under contract, or for the Hocking valley Ohio operators, representing 50 per cent of the Hocking output, also in operation under contract."

Second—That for the past eight years, by mutual agreement, rates at the basing points have been arranged upon competitive relations as nearly fair to all interests as possible, and that many of our competitors in Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois have already conceded the justice of your claims and are now operating their mines on the scale of wages and conditions of employment existing under the scale of 1903, and that if my proposition to arbitrate were carried into effect it would tend to destroy the competitive conditions which have been established by years of mutual agreement, without the consent of operators who are now paying the scale of 1903 and who have heretofore been parties to joint agreements, and that this action would be manifestly partial and unjust to all concerned.

Third—That I did not specify the scope that the arbitration should take, and that no arbitration would be fair to you that did not take into consideration the earnings of company stores, company houses or railroad companies operating mines and docks and other subsidiary companies connected with or incident to the production of coal.

To your first reason for declining we answer as follows: We represent all of the tonnage of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois which has not signed the scale of 1903 as proposed by you, which in the case of Ohio represents more than 90 per cent of the total tonnage of that state, and more than 75 per cent of the tonnage of the Hocking district, to which you make special reference. In the case of Indiana, more than 90 per cent of the tonnage mined in that state and in the case of Illinois, more than 90 per cent of the tonnage mined in that state. At the time my proposition was made to you I represented about 50 per cent of the tonnage of Western Pennsylvania, which has since signed a partial contract, having been forced to do so by the action of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, but who have as yet been unable to agree with their miners on the question of local differences.

To your second reason for declining, our answer is that there is now no agreement existing under which we can operate on a competitive basis, the interstate agreement having been terminated. All of the tonnage mined in the four states was included in my proposition in order that there might be no discrimination against any interest by any award given by an arbitration commission. We deny that arbitration would tend to destroy competitive conditions, but on the contrary would properly establish them, and that this is the only means by which they can be properly established at this time—new local conditions having arisen in some of the states, especially in the state of Illinois.

To your third reason, we reply that we propose to arbitrate the relative price of mining between the various bituminous coal producing states, the conditions of employment of labor, the system of collecting union dues, known commonly as the "check-off" system; the employment of either union or non-union labor without discrimination, and any and all other matters that affect the cost of production or the peace and prosperity of the industry, and in arbitrating these matters to give the fullest scope to the arbitrators, including their right to inquire into the earnings from company stores, company houses, or the earnings derived by railroad companies from their interest in coal mines, docks or other subsidiary companies connected with or incident to the production of coal.

We request and urge an immediate reply without equivocation as to whether or not your organization will arbitrate the differences existing between us upon the basis proposed in the last clause of this reply.

Please reply by Columbus, O., address.

(Signed) JOHN H. WINDER,
Chairman.

STORK'S VISITS TOO COSTLY FOR PITTSBURGH PASTORS

"Churches are causing race suicide among ministers by the payment of such small salaries that a preacher must either remain single or marry a rich wife," says the Rev. George D. Lindsay of the Westminster Presbyterian church of Greensburg, in a letter addressed to the clergy and laymen of Pittsburgh and vicinity. "Many of the churches have doubled in wealth, but the pastor's salary has in but few instances been raised," says he.

To Discuss Bank Advertising.

The Bankers' Ad association of Pittsburgh will meet in the assembly room of the Wabash building this evening, which representatives of many banks of this and adjacent counties are expected to attend. Robert Frothingham, advertising manager of Everybody's Magazine, will speak on "Prejudice in Advertising," and F. R. Morrison of the Citizens Savings and Trust Company of Cleveland, O., will discuss "Bank Advertising." The program will be enlivened by musical selections and an informal smoker will follow.

LUNA PARK THE MECCA FOR MANY JOB HUNTERS

Enthusiasm Is Not Dampened by Pelting Rain—Fat Woman Gets and Loses Position.

"Skidoo," "Watch the paint," "Get off my bunions," "My feet's cold," "Stick 'em in your pocket," are a few of the expressions which continually bombarded the ears of a sullen, disgruntled crowd of 500 men, women and children who stood at the entrance to Luna park yesterday afternoon impatiently waiting their turn to enter the office and secure a job in the park for the summer. The office was not opened until 2 in the afternoon, and about 20 girls had stood in the rain waiting for admission since 8 o'clock in the morning. Even the securing of a job scarcely failed to bring a smile to their tired faces, and those refused went from the office with faces which plainly told of their disappointment.

The decorations above the door at which the crowd was thickest were being brightened with a fresh coat of paint, and the drippings from the painters' brushes called forth the wrath of the girls underneath, whose hats and countenances were being besmirched.

It took Superintendent of Police Thomas McQuaide and a stalwart assistant exactly 28 minutes to work their way from the outer edge of the crowd to the office door, and in spite of the dignity of his official position cries of "Put him out," "Pull his wig," greeted his ears. The superintendent, however, took these remarks good naturedly, and as all the cries came from pretty though bedraggled young women, he made allowance for their ill temper.

The waiting crowd was made up of all kinds of people, from dirty faced youngsters in knee trousers, who had played "hook" to look for a job, to dignified, clerical looking gentlemen who, with a deprecating smile, informed the inquisitive reporter that they thought of accepting an office position in the park—for their health. They all crowded and jostled toward the door, and the rain poured down alike on gent and roustabout.

One portly colored woman, weight 400, height 5 feet, width 4 feet 9½ inches, was successful in securing a place as cashier in the Japanese theater. She found, however, that the door was only 4 feet in width, and as the park manager refused to widen the entrance, and as the negress found it impossible to narrow her person, she sorrowfully resigned.

SPOONER'S RATE BILL SPEECH WAS LENGTHY

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, April 26.—In the senate today Mr. Spooner spoke for three hours on the railroad rate question and then gave notice that he would continue his remarks tomorrow. He addressed himself especially to Mr. Bailey's amendment taking from the inferior federal courts the right to enjoin against the execution of the orders of the interstate commerce commission, contending that such an exercise of power would be the first step toward the destruction of the power of the judiciary and result in an undesirable blending of the co-ordinate branches of government. He also discussed at length the distinction between "jurisdiction" and "judicial power." The address was technical and consisted largely of quotations from legal decisions.

The bill making an appropriation of $300,000 for the employment of extra labor at the Mare Island (California) navy yard was passed.

The agricultural appropriation bill again furnished the theme for discussion in the house today, although but few references were made to the subject matter of the bill.

Under the latitude of general debate leaders on the Republican side began "medicine making" for the approaching congressional campaign. Mr. Hepburn (Iowa) predicting that tariff revision and protection would furnish the main issue of the campaign. Mr. Boutell (Illinois) replied to the "watch trust" speech of Mr. Rainey (Illinois), while Mr. Sulzer (New York) talked on the American Merchant Marine, and Mr. Sims (Tennessee) on "Free Rural Delivery Boxes."

It was a field day, the attendance on the floor being exceeding large, while the galleries were crowded with interested listeners who greatly enjoyed the wordy combats between the Republicans and Democrats.

The agricultural bill will continue to be the subject of "general debate" until tomorrow evening.

New Inspector Unearths Evidence.

H. H. Markus, the new meat and milk inspector of McKeesport, who went on duty Monday, has already made discoveries which, he says, will lead to suits against milk shippers. The milk being furnished is below the standard.

GOES AFTER AGED SISTER-IN-LAW

Domestic Says She Lost Money Because She Was Told She Could Not Bank It.

WIFE PREFERS HER MOTHER

Miss Catherine Shanahan filed a bill in equity against Mrs. Catherine Shanahan, her sister-in-law, to compel her to render an accounting for a check of $1,200 which she says she received from a building and loan association, and which, she claims, her sister-in-law told her she could not deposit in a bank because she was a domestic. It is alleged the sister-in-law deposited it in her own name and has failed to return her the money. She says the defendant is 71 years of age, in a state of collapse and likely to die at any time.

"I would not leave mother for any man," is a note received by Edward E. Hayes from his wife, Alvina T. Hayes of Bradford, N. Y., which led to his filing a suit for divorce. They were married 19 years, but when he moved to other places to try and benefit his position she refused to go with him, and when he threatened her with a suit for divorce she only wrote and requested him to send her a copy of the testimony.

The commissioner's report in the case of John E. Walker against Julia Walker shows the husband found his wife in a room with another man, then left her. A libel in divorce was filed by Isaac Shitzky against Sarah Slutsky alleging cruel and barbarous treatment.

Harry Ellsworth was found guilty on a charge of entering a building and was sent to the workhouse for four years. He was discovered in the Point Bridge Presbyterian church on April 5 with his pockets full of silver spoons belonging to that congregation. The communion service had also been packed up ready for removal.

John Williams was sentenced to one year in the workhouse for breaking into a Pan-handle freight car. John Hauck was found guilty on a charge of receiving stolen goods and was sentenced to one year and six months in the workhouse.

An answer was filed by the Allegheny County Light Company in the equity proceedings of Wettengill Bros. of the East End, who conduct a private electric light plant, to restrain them from cutting wires or interfering with their business in any way. The answer of the Allegheny County Light Company is a denial that any wires of the defendant company were cut, but that the only wires cut were strung across Kirkwood street in violation of a city ordinance.

Mary Poldyak entered suit for $10,000 damages against Albert Guewa for alleged breach of promise of marriage. She claims she met the defendant in Philadelphia in 1904 and that he asked her to come with him to Pittsburgh, and he would marry her a month after they arrived. She came, but states that Guewa failed to keep his promise.

A bill in equity was filed by Charles F. Rilling against Joseph Rilling and others, heirs of John Rilling, Sr., deceased, asking for the appointment of a master in chancery to devide certain property at Point Perry.

An execution was issued by James S. McKelvy against Allen J. Coleman for $1,865.

Grand Jury Returns.

After having been in session less than four days the grand jury was discharged shortly after noon yesterday by Judge Kennedy, as all the cases to come before it during this term of court have been disposed of. Among the true bills was one against W. Edward Cope, charging misdemeanor. Cope was for a time under arrest in Cincinnati and was brought here for several alleged crimes. Other true bills found were:

Entering a building, Ernest Santarro, Charles Lewis, George Carroll; misdemeanor, William Schreck, Vanderbilt Thompson, Mike Cavanaugh, Abraham Hollanding, Rual Scott; robbery, John Le Clair; burglary, Charles V. Curtis; larceny, John Millet, Morris Flinn, Robert Price, Elmer E. Singleton, Sun Clinton, Maggie Thomas, Noble Arthurs, E. Stepton; assault and battery, Thomas Costello, William Conners; aggravated assault and battery, William Connor; felonious assault and battery, Pasquile Pionerra, Joe Cummile, Ernest Diggs; carrying concealed weapons, William Ross, John Dode; embezzlement, Edgar L. Walker; false pretenses, W. H. Williams.

Advance in Price of Crude Will Stimulate the Production

In the absence of interesting field developments, operators and producers are discussing the advance in the credit balance market. Producers in the Illinois field and residents of Pittsburgh received notice yesterday that the market price of Casey oil had been marked up 2 cents, making the quotation for the present 88 cents. It is the general opinion that the advance in the market will stimulate development work in all fields and will have a marked effect on development work in Crawford county. A very large amount of work has been mapped out and operations will begin as soon as the machinery and material can be placed on the ground.

Should the market be still farther advanced it will have a tendency to increase work in the eastern fields. There is considerable territory capable of furnishing light wells, and in addition to work in the old fields, there will be considerable wildcatting. In the deep sand district, in the lower southwest, development work will be revived.

In the new Keener sand development on Point Pleasant creek, Tyler county, the Southern Oil Company had two 250-barrel tanks struck by lightning last Wednesday night and both, and 250 barrels of oil, consumed. The tanks were at the company's No. 2 on the R. A. Workman farm and it was only by the heroic efforts of the workers in the field that the fire was prevented from communicating to other wells and causing a heavy loss.

In the Kinchloe district, Lewis county, the South Penn Oil Company has completed and shot its test on the J. M. Hall farm and it failed to respond.

In the shallow sand territory in Wood county, George and H. F. Rasel have completed their No. 6 on the A. M. Robinson farm and have a show for an 8 or 10-barrel pumper.

In the Payne district, on the Ohio side, in Washington county, William Reader has drilled his No. 27 on the J. D. Lehmer farm through the first Cow Run sand and has a show for a 20-barrel producer. In the same district, Campbell & Company have drilled their test on the William Musser farm through the second Cow Run sand and have a duster. In the Woodsfield district, Monroe county, the Pure Oil Producing Company has completed its No. 8 on the L. B. Christman farm and has a 40-barrel producer. In the Plum Run district, Harrison county, the Ohio Consolidated Oil Company has drilled in its No. 5 on the McCauley heirs' farm and has a show for a 5-barrel pumper. In the Adams pool, in the same county, Hedges & Holmes have a 20-barrel producer at their No. 4 on the Mary Adams farm. D. S. Campbell & Company's No. 4 on the G. W. & S. McGrew farm is good for 10 barrels a day. In the edge of Carol county, the Local Oil & Gas Company has completed a test on the James Smith farm and has a duster. Hester & Rease have completed a test on the Sutherland heirs' farm and have a duster.

In the Cow Run district, Washington county the Carter Oil Company has completed its second test on the Ruth A. Dye farm and has a light pumper in the second Cow Run sand. In the Marietta district, the Crescent Production Company has drilled No. 6 on the Jas. Ingraham farm through the salt sand and has a duster.

Near Burgettstown, Washington county, Pa., the Venture Oil Company and Guffey & Queen have completed No. 5 on the A. Pry farm and have a 50-barrel producer. In the same district, the Freehold Oil & Gas Company has the same kind of a producer at its test on the G. M. Campbell farm.
